LOOK OUT FOR FIRE!

To Theater Owners Managers and Whom it May Concern:

This is to certify that I have equipped the Windsor theater in this city with the Lindgren stationary chemical fire engines. After examining all other systems of fire protection and after repeated tests of the Lindgren stationary chemical fire engine and upon the recommendation of the insurance underwriters, I have no hesitation in pronouncing it the cheapest and most powerful as well as perfect fire protection for theaters ever invented. In my opinion every theater and opera house in the United States, as well as Europe, should be equipped with these chemical fire engines, and thus save the loss of life and thousands of dollars in property

Respectfully
(Signed) H. J. GOLDY
Owner Windsor Theater, Chicago Ill.

See What a Practical Fireman Says.

Tacoma Wash. Sept. 19, 1889.

To Whom it May Concern

This is to certify that I George A Burbank witnessed the exhibition of the Lindgren chemical engine test to-day and as I have witnessed a great many such chemical tests in New York City Boston, Mass. and other large cities in the East I hereby state that it was the quickest and most satisfactory test and was also pronounced so by two of our councilmen and all the citizens present, and I will also state that the time of applying the chemical was left entirely to me and I did not give the word until the fire was well started for in other tests I have witnessed they have always put the chemical on the minute the fire was started and water would answer just as well, as there was nothing but the flame started and the wood not charred and I take great pleasure in recommending the "Lindgren" as far superior to any other "Chemical" engine on the market.

TRACKING A FUGITIVE.

A Detective Follows Joyce Hatfield to Spokane.

FIGHTING FOR SENATORIAL HONORS

General Sprague Will Not Abandon the Contest.

THOMPSON ASSURED OF STRENGTH

Democratic Chicanery Temporarily Triumphant in Montana—Liquor Men at Tacoma Aroused Over the Early Closing Movement.

SPOKANE FALLS Oct. 3 —T M. Gibson a detective sent out here by the state of Kentucky to search for Joyce Hatfield, a fugitive from justice, contributes the following letter to the Review which is published and which shows that Hatfield has been in this city and is now somewhere on the coast Gibson substantiates his letter by exhibiting documentary evidence that greatly strengthens his claims but which he holds in reserve

Gibson says "The people of Spokane Falls will perhaps be surprised to learn that Joyce Hatfield, one of the worst of the gang, has been here or near here for more than a year past, going by the name of James Jacobs, associating with a special timber agent, and a timber agent both of whom knew him to be a murderer and fugitive from justice When I learned that Joyce had left I came at once to this place. Finding no clue to his whereabouts, I went boldly to the timber agent and offered him a bribe for his information concerning the whereabouts of Hatfield He didn't get insulted at my offer but said he guessed Hatfield was in Gunnison Colo by that time as he had started for that point some time before But I found out some days later that instead of being in Colorado he had been cutting government timber on Little Spokane river and selling it at Dirl's mill.

"He was spirited away as soon as I was known to be here Some time after I met the special agent and made him the same offer I had made his associate, except that I raised it 50 per cent He gave me so much encouragement that I followed him to Yakima when he left. On meeting him there he said he was willing to set me right that Hatfield had gone to Los Angeles Cal and my only show was to follow him there. I didn't think so, so, keeping my eye on him after he left me I saw him go to the telegraph office When he left I had business there By a little ruse I found these telegrams were on file in the office

C— B—, Cle-Elum, W T, Gibson is here goes to Cle Elum to-night sure.
W— B— Cle-Elum, W T Gibson is here goes to Cle Elum to-night sure.

"To whom the first message was sent, was a man who, under another name, took up a claim on Little Spokane river and cut timber Then he left with Hatfield, going to Cle Elum, where each took up a coal claim Hatfield using the alias of James Henderson. William B— is another coal claim jumper I countermanded the telegrams, took the first train, arriving twelve hours later only to find that Hatfield had that much start of me in a box car which I didn't learn until three days later

Gibson has kept his case quiet up to this time but is about to abandon the pursuit, as he has been called home. He is perfectly familiar with every incident of the McCoy Hatfield feud, and to a reporter gave many interesting facts about that vendetta His story bears every evidence of truth The man undoubtedly knows what he is talking about He is the man who participated in the arrest of Ellison Mounts and his name figures in the reports of the special correspondents sent to the scene of the famous feud. He is positive that Hatfield has been here very recently and thinks he is still in Washington Oregon or California.

RIVALRY FOR PLACE

General Sprague is in the Senatorial Fight to Stay.

TACOMA, Wash Oct. 31 —The aspect of the senatorial contest has been likened by some of the members of the late convention to that of Colorado when Governor Pitkin was proposed as a candidate for United States senator Had the question been put before the people there was no doubt but that ex Governor Pitkin would have been elected by a large majority, but there was a democratic governor in power and the practical politicians at once said that no man suffering from an incurable disease and liable to die before his term expired ought to be elected to the senate. As a matter of history, Governor Pitkin died very shortly afterwards

The practical politicians of Tacoma object to the candidacy of General Sprague, on the ground of his age and the state of his health They realize that General Sprague is not likely to live even through the short term and may never take his seat

Senator elect John S Baker nephew of General Sprague, in conversation with THE OREGONIAN correspondent, said that the reports received from east of the mountains were of the most encouraging character for the general's success, and that he is in the field to stay The result of this fight will probably be that Pierce county will get soup and King county capture the persimmons. General Sprague's affiliations have always been with the Northern Pacific railway and this will undoubtedly militate against his chances because no matter how unbiased a man may think he is said a politician to-day "he will always fall in line with his early traditions, and if he has been brought up as a railway man he will invariably favor railways at the expense of any other enterprise and that this would in the very improbable event of his election be a calamity to Washington

On the other hand, said this gentleman Mr Thompson was the one man in the Tacoma chamber of commerce who opposed a motion condemning the proposed interstate commerce bill and was coffed and jeered at by General Sprague at the meeting

Senator elect John S Baker has promised THE OREGONIAN a statement for publication on Saturday as to the status of General Sprague's candidacy and this will be forwarded to-morrow

The advent of General Sprague to the senatorial race track has not daunted Walter J Thompson, who receives renewed assurances of support from his friends outside of the city

TRIUMPH OF POLITICAL FRAUD

Judge DeWolf's Decision Favorable to the Montana Democrats

HELENA Oct 31 —Judge DeWolf gave a decision when the court met at 9 30 o'clock this morning wherein the celebrated mandamus case of John J McHatton, democratic candidate for circuit judge was plaintiff and Jack and Hall the canvassing board of Silver Bow county were defendants The mandamus was for the purpose of preventing the counting of the vote for the disputed Tunnel district 34

The judge ordered that a peremptory writ of mandate be issued ordering Jack and Hall to proceed forthwith to canvass the vote Judge Knowles counsel for the canvassing board filed immediately a notice of appeal and asked a stay of proceedings until the case could be brought before the supreme court Probate Judge Irvine who is a democratic member of the board of canvassers expressed satisfaction with DeWolf's ruling and refused to join the republican members in their appeal to the supreme court.

The democrats all claim that DeWolf's decision will be that an appeal in absence of Commissioner Jack who is in Europe cannot be taken by Hall and this rule will settle the matter It is claimed that this decision will give a democratic majority of five in the legislature

Mr Hall says he is not satisfied with the decision and wants to appeal. The objection is raised that as a legal member of the board in which he is in the minority, he has no right to appeal if when his colleague Irvine representing the same vote on the board refuses to do so.

YESTERDAY'S TACOMA NEWS.

Grounding of the Quincy Interferes With Railroad Work

TACOMA, Oct 31 —Excitement increases over the action of the city council in directing all saloons to close at 11 P M

The City of Quincy which sank in the channel covered by the railway draw bridge by grounding, continues to settle in the mud and water Her cargo of wheat will prove a total loss and from her position beneath the railway bridge the draw cannot be replaced, and all of the trains over the Northern Pacific's Cascade division have to run on a circuitous side track which extends around the head of the bay

Their proprietors are devising various measures for resistance and protection

Ex Judge Wickersham and John Mayo Palmer to-day filed articles of incorporation of the Tacoma & Olympia Railway its capital stock being $1,000 000 It is proposed to construct a line by Admiralty Inlet and through the Olympic range of mountains to Olympia and to the Pacific ocean.

THE BOARD OF CANVASSERS MEET.

The Official Count Not Completed Because of Delayed Returns

HELENA, Mont., Oct 31 —The state board of canvassers met to-day and counted the vote of all the counties in the territory except two Choteau and Silver Bow (Tunnel precinct 34) which arrived too late to count The board adjourned until to-morrow Chief Justice Blake and Secretary Walker counted the votes. Governor White was absent.

LATER A special train brought over this afternoon the count of the vote of Silver Bow county, also bearing S. T Hauser, Donald Bradford and a few other good democrats, besides Charles N Gorman, deputy clerk and recorder In the possession of the latter was a large envelope containing the purported election returns which was delivered to Secretary Walker, who received the returns and filed them in the vault without opening They were duly certified to by County Clerk Booth (democrat) There is no doubt among republicans as to whether it is the full official vote including Tunnel 34 as Irvine is opposed to appealing the case and Hall is in favor One of their signatures would not be legal It is not likely that they would combine although the clerk has the official certification on the envelope There is considerable curiosity to know the nature of the returns.

LEGAL OPINION AT BUTTE

BUTTE Oct. 31 —The lawyers at Butte are discussing the motion to appeal to night. If the motion prevails and Hall refuses to make a count he will probably be arrested and jailed for contempt in failing to obey the peremptory writ of mandate. Republicans say that Jack is in St Louis and will be at Butte to-morrow.

NOTES FROM PENDLETON.

Railroad Accident, but No Lives Lost—New Bank Project.

PENDLETON Oct 31 —A portion of the up freight on the Spokane branch ran off the bridge near Valley Grove on Wednesday afternoon, caused by a misplaced switch The train was moving at a lively rate, and ran on the ties until the bridge was reached. Here the engineer seeing the imminent danger pulled the throttle wide open and crossed in safety, although every wheel in the train was off the rails Four loaded freight cars were precipitated into the gulch below and dashed into a shapeless mass. No lives were lost

A Seattle capitalist, G W F. Griffith, is in the city with the view of establishing another national bank The project will probably materialize

A virulent form of kidney disease is prevalent among horses near Milton Many fine animals have been lost.

A ROUGH VOYAGE.

A British Ship Almost Wrecked on Destruction Island

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash, Oct. 31 —The British ship Leyland Brothers arrived from Rio Janerio to-day and reports having narrowly escaped being totally wrecked on Destruction Island below Cape Flattery on last Sunday night A heavy south westerly gale and a high sea drove the ship in towards shore, and everything was made ready and the boats lowered to leave the vessel when the wind slewed around and the vessel beat to windward The next day during a gale, a seaman Augustus, fell from the royal yard to the foretop, and sustained injuries which will probably prove fatal Seaman Hamilton died of consumption just after rounding Cape Horn Both men shipped in Glasgow, Scotland. A heavy head wind was experienced around Cape Horn The ship loads lumber at Tacoma for the United Kingdom Several incoming vessels report that the recent storm was the severest of the season.

A DISTRESSING ACCIDENT.

Death of a Little Girl Who Was Run Over by a Loaded Team

WALLA WALLA Oct 31 —On Wednesday afternoon while returning from school at Milton Or., Bonnie a little daughter of M. V. B Worthington, in company with other children attempted to crawl under a wagon loaded with lumber standing across the sidewalk just as the driver started the team She was immediately knocked beneath the wheels which ran over the child's body at the waist and caused injuries resulting in her death which occurred shortly after in most intense agony

A Child Without Eyes to Be Exhibited in Different Countries

PENDLETON Or., Oct 31 —Recently a sightless child was born at Weston who had no eyeballs the orifices where the eyes should have appeared being but slightly marked Otherwise the infant has no peculiarity is lively and healthy

It has been secured by I. T Merrill the bicycleist of Portland, and will be exhibited as a curiosity in Europe and America.

Payment Allowed

PORT TOWNSEND Oct 31 —The fishing schooner Oscar and Hattie which was sold last spring by the United States marshal for $5000, to satisfy the demands of her crew for labor performed which amount was $1,200 occupied the attention of the district court to day Waterman & Katz for stores furnished, amounting to $1,500 and a mortgagee from Massachusetts put in claims. The court gave the allowed payment in full to the crew and one half of the remainder was applied to Waterman & Katz's account and the balance was retained by the court in abeyance to the demands of the fishermen employed aboard the schooner

Astoria Notes

ASTORIA Or Oct 31 —Colonel G H Burton inspector general of army posts in the United States army, is in en route to Fort Canby to inspect the post there. He returned this evening and left for Vancouver

Beginning to-morrow the Telephone will leave Portland at 7 every morning except Sunday and returning leave here next morning at 7 o'clock up and down the Washington side The Thompson will do the same on alternate days on the Oregon side of the river. The Potter will leave Portland at 11 30 P M and leave here at 7 P M for Portland making one night boat and two day boats.

A SURVEYOR CRITICISED

Douglas W. Taylor Charged With Neglect of Duty.

UMATILLA ALLOTMENTS DELAYED

Eight Hundred Mistakes Alleged in the Survey

TAYLOR'S REMOVAL RECOMMENDED

The Surveyor General Said to Be Responsible for the Delay—Oregon's Delegation Justly Indignant Over the Matter

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31 —Senator Mitchell was the most disgusted man in Washington to-day when he discovered that the Umatilla allotments could not be made this season Six years ago a bill was put through providing for making the allotments and a survey of the reservation Everything has been delayed and although the delegation pushed things hard, very little was done To day Senator Mitchell was shown a letter of over seventy five type written pages which the commissioner of the general land office will send to Surveyor General Douglas W Taylor of Oregon pointing out over 800 mistakes in the surveys of the Umatilla agency, for which Taylor is responsible. It was first determined to reject the entire survey but it is believed that correction can be made in a shorter time

The commissioner also addressed a letter to Secretary Noble in which he accuses the surveyor general of gross negligence and glaring incompetency He recommends his immediate removal He says the plats of the Umatilla lands are ridiculously erroneous and contain 400 mistakes aside from errors in surveys He inclosed in the letter a half dozen telegrams sent to Taylor, urging him to send in the reports of the examinations of surveys and shows that in the discharge of his entire duties he has been careless and extremely slow None of the Oregon delegation knew of the trouble until to day, and Senator Mitchell says he was amazed at the state of affairs found to exist, when shown Commissioner Groff's letter

Taylor is a democrat, and was appointed in July, 1886, but his removal had never been asked by the Oregon delegation, who believed him to be in every way competent

GOVERNMENT TELEGRAPH SERVICE.

Postmaster-General Wanamaker Issues a New Schedule of Rates.

WASHINGTON, Oct 31 —Postmaster-General Wanamaker to-day made public his order fixing the rates for telegraphic service for the government for the present year

The order provides that for day messages, not exceeding ten body words to be sent a distance not exceeding 400 miles, the rate shall be ten cents, and half a cent extra for each word in excess of ten For a distance of over 400 and less than 1000 miles, the rate shall be fifteen cents for the first ten words, and three fourths of a cent for each word in excess of ten. For distances over 1000 miles one-half cent per word shall be added to the 1000 mile rate. For night messages, not exceeding twenty words, the rate shall be fifteen cents for all distances and one half cent extra for each word in excess of twenty It is provided that if at any time during the year any telegraph company shall charge the public a less rate than the above the government rate shall be reduced to the same basis. These rates do not include the cipher signal service messages, which are fixed at two and a half cents for each word sent over the circuits to be dropped at designated offices

A letter from the postmaster general to Dr. Green president of the Western Union company, is also made public in the course of which Mr. Wanamaker says that while he cannot admit Green's claim that the privileges accorded the telegraph companies have never been of any value to them, he is impressed by what Dr Green has advanced in opposition to the application of press rates to the government business and consequently has revised his order to the rates as adopted. He proposes the appointment of a commission of five suitable persons to thoroughly look into the matter and make recommendations for a scale of rates for the next succeeding fiscal year

PRESIDENT GREEN DOESN'T LIKE IT

NEW YORK, Oct. 31 —President Norvin Green, of the Western Union Telegraph Company says the rates fixed by the postmaster general are below cost and that he is unprepared to say what action the company will take till after the meeting of the executive committee next Wednesday The reduction from the old rates is an average of 33 per cent

LAND TITLES IN NEW MEXICO.

Special Attention Called to the Subject in the Governor's Report.

WASHINGTON Oct 31 —Governor Prince of New Mexico in his annual report calls special attention to the subject of land titles In reviewing the history of congressional action in the matter he says Matters were in a very unsatisfactory condition when the late surveyor general made them worse by taking up cases which had been decided twenty five years ago and without notice to anyone reversing the decision of the surveyor general who heard the case and declaring the testimony insufficient and the grant invalid So long as uncertainty regarding the titles prevails no one will buy or improvement and so the development of the country is constantly retarded The governor urges the establishment of a tribunal exclusively for the hearing of these claims and the settlement of titles He answers at some length the statements made by persons opposed to the admission of the territory especially regarding illiteracy He shows that while the native population is more or less illiterate, it is not true of a very large proportion of the people The ratio of illiteracy has been reduced 30 per cent during the last five years He makes an earnest plea for admission into the Union Upon the subject of water supply and irrigation the governor says the people feel that it is as much the business of the government to render valuable the immense areas now useless for cultivation as it is to improve the harbors or rivers While hoping for government and private enterprise has not been idle and during the past year several corporations have been formed for the purpose of irrigation Cattle raising has been in a depressed condition throughout the year on account of the low prices

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Commissioner of Indian Affairs Morgan has elaborated a system of [illegible] schools [illegible] bureau [illegible] industrial [illegible] public schools is to [illegible] where practicable. It is proposed [illegible] a full high school course in at least three Indian schools—those at Carlisle, Haskell and Chevenne—and in the others as fast as needed. These high schools are to take the rank in equipment and character of work with similar institutions for white people. The scheme contemplates the organization of perhaps twenty [illegible] grammar schools, fifty primary or home schools and enough day or camp schools to reach all who cannot be brought into the boarding school.

Congress will be asked to make a sufficient appropriation to enable the Indian office at an early day to bring every Indian youth of school age that can be reached under proper instruction.

THE CHEROKEE CLAIM OF TITLE.

No Bar to a Completion of Negotiations With the Tribe.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—At the request of Secretary Noble, Assistant Attorney General Shields has rendered an opinion to the effect that there is nothing in the constitution of Cherokee nation which can present any legal obstacle to the relinquishment of the Cherokee claim of title to the outlet lands. This will enable the Cherokee commission to complete their negotiations with the consent of the Cherokee council.

THE TWO DAKOTAS

A Probability That They Will Be Proclaimed States To-Day

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—It is expected that the proclamation admitting the two Dakotas into the Union as states will be issued to-morrow. The proclamation admitting Montana is delayed by the controversy in the territorial courts over the controversy of a portion of the vote. It is said that nothing has yet been received at the White house indicating that an election had been held in Washington, so there is no information on which to base a proclamation of statehood.

THE CRONIN TRIAL

No Developments of Special Interest at Yesterday's Session

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—The proceedings in the trial in the Cronin case this morning were uninteresting. Two witnesses testified to hearing Defendant Coughlin say: "There's a Catholic on the North Side who will get done up if he don't keep his mouth shut."

Furniture Salesman Hatfield retold the story of the selling of the furniture to J. B. Simonds which was subsequently found in the Carlson cottage. The chief point of interest developed was that it was furniture in common use and that there were no marks on it to perfectly establish its identity. Hatfield also identified the trunk in which Cronin's body was carried away as identical in appearance with that sold to Simonds.

When the court resumed its session the jury was excluded while the matter of striking out McGarry's evidence was discussed. The court finally decided to exclude all of the talk in regard to the former attack on Cronin. This was not satisfactory to the defense, but after some talk the trial was resumed.

John W. Sampson testified that about two years ago Coughlin tried to hire him to "slug" Dr. Cronin. On cross-examination Simpson admitted that Coughlin had him arrested three or four times once for robbery, that he had been convicted of passing counterfeit money and that he is a gambler by profession.

Joseph C. O'Keefe, Cronin's tailor, said that he attended a meeting of Camp 20 in September 1888, and after it had a conversation with Beggs about Cronin and Alexander Sullivan. Beggs had displayed an aversion to Cronin and said that the latter was not a proper man to put on the trial committee to try Alexander Sullivan. He objected to Cronin particularly because the doctor was an enemy of Sullivan's.

Edward Throckmorton, Aaron Goldman and James M. Marshall, connected with a real estate office, testified regarding the renting of the flat at 117 Clark street to J. B. Simonds. The court then adjourned till to-morrow.

An afternoon paper says that soon after the disappearance of Dr. Cronin the state put spies upon Camp 20 and that a man was concealed in the hall during some of its meetings and took notes of its proceedings.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 31.—To-day Assistant States Attorney Baker, of Chicago, and Lawyer Howell elicited new and if true, important information from Gillette, the late fellow prisoner of Martin Burke. Burke said that a plot had been laid to decoy Cronin from his house by Coughlin and a woman. Afterwards Coughlin changed the plan and decoyed Cronin by means of O'Sullivan's business card. Burke told Gillette that the woman in question kept furnished lodgings on North Clark street in Chicago. Burke mentioned as the associate with himself Coughlin, Cooney and O'Sullivan. The intention was to sink the body in the lake but the confederate who was to have met them with a boat failed to keep his appointment. Gillette says that Burke went twice to a lawyer's office on Dearborn street, Chicago, and got money for doing the job. Cronin's clothes were brought to Winnipeg and hidden there.

Gillette told Baker how Burke told him in detail of the murder, how Cronin was clubbed as he stepped inside the cottage door, and how they took the body to the lake and, not finding the boat there, threw it in. Fearing, however, that it would wash up on the beach it was taken back, placed in the trunk and afterwards put in the catchbasin. Gillette's story is very circumstantial. Baker inclined to believe it, straight in spite of the apparent improbability of Burke's having confessed.

A CRONIN WITNESS AT PORTSMOUTH, O.

PORTSMOUTH, O., Oct. 31.—Edward Spelman of Peoria, Ill., wanted as a witness in the Cronin trial, was located in this city to-day. He said he was here on business for the whisky trust and will go to Chicago Monday.

THE ALL-AMERICANS

Eulogistic Speeches by the Delegates at the Tomb of Lincoln

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 31.—The All-American visitors arrived here [illegible] this morning [illegible] the disagreeable rainy weather precluded any sightseeing [illegible].

In the afternoon they were driven to Lincoln's tomb, where a large crowd gathered.

Senator Cullom introduced ex-Governor Oglesby, who made a telling speech advocating a [illegible] of American sightseers from Europe to South America and Mexico, and of the necessity of the establishment of a universal American brotherhood commercially, socially, morally and politically. Governor Oglesby paid a touching tribute to the martyr president.

General Bolet Peraza, who responded, is a son-in-law of General Monagas, who while president of Venezuela freed the slaves in that country. General Peraza said that his voice was but the echo of the sentiments of the people of his country and that fifteen free American nations were present to-day to pay their respects and render homage to a man respected and beloved by all alike. The tomb only contained the ashes of a great man, but his real sarcophagus was in the heart of every living American, both North and South.

Senor Alfonzo of Chili in a brief speech said that his presence was the result of a vow which he made years ago to visit the tomb of the man beloved throughout the three Americas. After the speaking was concluded the visitors went to the room where relics are kept and each signed his name in the register. From the tomb they were driven to Lincoln's old home, and thence returned to the hotel.

After dinner speeches were made by Senator Cullom, Senor Velarde, Governor Fifer, Delegate Henderson, Judge Gresham and Congressman Springer. A reception was held at the state house this evening, after which the tourist left for Indianapolis.

It was followed to-day by a formal notice of dismissal to members of the present board and appointing their successors [illegible].

MRS. PERRY IN SAN FRANCISCO.

The Recent Robbery at Portland—Statements Concerning the Divorce

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—Mrs. Evelyn H. Perry, of Tacoma, has arrived here in a state that she intends remaining in San Francisco permanently. Regarding the recent loss of her money at Portland, Mrs. Perry said: "The sum of money that I recently lost, or had stolen from me, was about $10,000. Of this $1000 was a draft and $9000 in notes. I placed the money in my pocket and either dropped it or it was taken out of my pocket when I was getting on the cars at Portland. I have stopped the payment of the draft."

Speaking of the divorce, she said: "I wish simply to state and state [illegible] kindness that the divorce was obtained at Mr. Perry's instance. He has, however, expressly denied furnishing any such particulars to the Paris correspondent as are claimed in the alleged interview which was published. He denied it to myself and to others. He very earnestly and properly said that if it was published in the papers as coming from him he should take it as a personal matter. Not one of my friends has been estranged from me by these wicked and malicious statements. On the contrary, I have had them stop me on the street to assure me of their sympathy. I think there is no more convincing proof that Mr. Perry himself does not regard me as the monstrous creature I have been described than this: that not only has he made no opposition to my retaining the custody of my child but that he has agreed to provide for its education and maintenance while under my care. He will also visit the child at his convenience."

CALIFORNIA NEWS ITEMS

Fired Upon by Highbinders.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—Mok Sun, a Chinaman who had testified against Ug Guen, who was convicted of murder yesterday, was fired upon by six highbinders this afternoon in Chinatown. Some of Mok Sun's friends who were standing near returned the fire and two men were slightly injured. Four arrests were made.

A number of bullets were picked up by the officers after the shooting. One had struck a metal button on the clothing of a Chinese bystander, and was flattened by the contact instead of sending the man to the morgue. It was said that one of the escaped combatants was wounded in the leg and another in the arm. The affair created a deal of excitement in Chinatown and dozens of the friends of both sides were about the city prison in the forenoon, trying to see the arrested men. Further hostilities are expected.

Wrecked in the Caribbean Sea.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—News has been received of the wreck of the brig Amazon in the Caribbean sea. The vessel left Abingdon island, one of the Galapagos group, Sept. 7 with Captain Stewart, his wife and two daughters and nine sailors aboard bound for Guayaquil. She sprung a leak on the 10th and it became apparent that she would founder. A raft was constructed and six of the sailors with twenty days' provisions were put on it. Captain Stewart, his family and the other three men took to the boat just before the vessel sunk. The boat reached Cape Line in the Gulf of Darien on the [illegible] of September and its occupants went thence to Panama, arriving there October 6.

Investigating the Water Supply Question

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—The water committee of the board of supervisors is still investigating the water supply for this city. A. W. Von Schmidt has now appeared before the committee with reference to supplying the city with water from Lake Tahoe. He stated that a pipe line from this city to Auburn in the Sacramento valley would cost $10,000,000, and that he would supply the city with 30,000,000 gallons of water per day. The committee decided not to take action until the Eldorado Water Company was heard from.

The Manitoba undoubtedly will prevent her rival from getting into Crookston to-morrow, which it had to do to earn the $50,000 bonus promised.

RAILROAD INDEBTEDNESS

Early Action by the Government Necessary to Secure Payment.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The government directors of the Union Pacific report to the secretary of the interior that in their judgment the interests of the United States demand early action by congress to secure the payment of the indebtedness to the government.

The general plan of settlement at first suggested by the commissioner of railroads [illegible] has never been successfully attacked. The directors fully approve this plan and also concur in the recommendations made in last report of their predecessors. They express the opinion that the interests of the United States demand the passage of a bill substantially like that pending when congress adjourned.

Stealing a President's Umbrella

An amusing story is going the rounds of the French press to the effect that during one of the last days of President Carnot's stay at Fontainebleau the president met several persons at the palace gate and stopped to speak with them. There had been a shower of rain so M. Carnot placed his umbrella against the wall. Close by was an Englishman who wished to have a souvenir of the president. The umbrella caught his eye. He seized an opportunity when he imagined he was not observed and ran away with it. [illegible] policeman had, however, witnessed the incident and as he came running up, placed his hands on the disconcerted man's shoulders. At the station it was discovered that the prisoner was a member of a distinguished English family. He had taken the umbrella to add to his collection of curiosities. M. Carnot, being informed of the circumstances, not only ordered the release of the prisoner but gave him the coveted article.

[illegible] Miss Caldwell laughed and replied [illegible] all things with [illegible]. The prince [illegible] still refuses to believe that she was serious. Miss Caldwell [illegible] "You have shown that you do not know how to manage money." The prince thereupon became very angry, exclaiming: "Madam, I am not a beggar," and walked out of the room.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Miss Caldwell is well known here for holding rather tight to her money. One of her friends gossiping about her said: "She is worth $10,000,000 I suppose. She seems to have a dreadful time paying her bills and [illegible] all the accounts of her tradespeople. DAVITT'S SPEECH CONCLUDED.

Chief Justice Hannen Compliments Him Upon the Ability Displayed

LONDON, Oct. 31.—Michael Davitt continued his speech to-day and said that Farragher, who had been clerk of the Land League, but who turned informer and testified for the Times, has been unable to prove the assertion made by Attorney-General Webster that the League advanced money to the committal of outrages and crimes. Davitt regretted that all the Land League books had not been found and [illegible] disappeared during the confusion consequent upon the suppression of the League, but the National League books which had been produced revealed nothing unconstitutional. He denounced the publication of the alleged fac simile letters by the Times as an attempt at a moral assassination of the political character of public men unparalleled by the action of any political party in the history of the country. He ridiculed the idea that the Times was not aware of Pigott's antecedents until he testified before the commission.

When Mr. Davitt finished Justice Hannen complimented him upon the ability displayed in his speech and thanked him for the assistance he had given the court.

Sir Henry James then began his speech in behalf of the Times.

His address was historical in character. He denied that any injustice had been done to Ireland which justified the present attitude of the Irish nationalists.

MRS. MACKAY'S LIBEL SUIT.

Her Case Against the Manchester Paper up Before the Court.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—The action for libel brought by Mrs. John W. Mackay against the Manchester Examiner came up in the court of the Queen's Bench to-day. The libel complained of is the allegation that plaintiff was a poor widow with two children, that she was employed as a washerwoman by Nevada miners, when Mackay fell in love with and married her. Plaintiff contends that the article declared she was not a lady by birth or education and that she was not accustomed to associating with persons of good position. Defendants admit the first innuendo but deny the second. Defendants had paid £10 into court and the question before the court to-day was whether the payment applied to the whole libel or to the innuendo admitted. The court ruled that it applied only to that part of the libel admitted.

The Ohio Democratic Managers.

Akron (O.) Beacon

The men who are managing the democratic party's campaign in Ohio are known from one end of the land to the other. From 1883 to 1885 they were conspicuously notorious. They forged, they bribed, they placed colonized voters in jail on election day in order to prevent their voting and when the day was over released them without trial or explanation. They controlled our public affairs in Hoadly's administration so that the [illegible] increasing surplus of over half a million [illegible] in the state treasury was [illegible] into a rapidly increasing debt of even a greater [illegible].

Remarkable Photography

One of the most remarkable feats of photography on record is the photographing, [illegible] of the explosion at Antwerp [illegible] The current number of Nature gives an illustration [illegible] the air [illegible] flash [illegible] has been estimated at [illegible] 1700 or 1800 feet across and [illegible] about [illegible].

Importance of Conciliating China

The Pittsburg Dispatch thinks [illegible] worth the while of this country to observe [illegible] recent decree [illegible] regarding restrictions upon Chinese [illegible]—a decree [illegible] the proceedings of last year. It says: "The reasons for cultivating friendly feeling with that empire are not military but commercial. There is an immense and almost inexhaustible field for American enterprise here if our national policy can ever be made to look beyond the object of carrying the next election. The opening of China by railroads and telegraphs, the markets that could be obtained there for our manufactures, and the products that could be brought back in return are prizes well worth a decently courteous treatment of the Chinese government. Other nations can see the importance of conciliating China while our nation, which is most advantageously situated for that trade, and, once held a great share of it, is now throwing away her chances."

First Prohibitionist—Yes, I saw Touchnot one of our leading prohibitionists coming out at the front door of a saloon yesterday. It hurts the cause for one of our leaders to act so.

Second Prohibitionist—You are right and there isn't any excuse for either. Why, there isn't a single saloon in this place that hasn't a back door. I'll speak to him about it.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Stocks to-day were quiet for the regular list but were active for trusts, and while the former presented a firm front, the latter developed weakness. Trading prevailed among the latter. Cotton seed oil was the great feature of the day. It opened at 41¼ and soon dropped to 36½, the lowest figure of the year. Advances are in the majority to-night, but the principal gain of ⅜ in Tennessee is the only one of importance, while cotton oil is down 3¾ and sugar 1⅝.

Government bonds have been dull and steady.

SAN FRANCISCO MARKETS

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—Receipts of produce, past 24 hours include 4600 ctls wheat, 2 4?0 qrs flour, 4,?00 ctls oats, 2700 sks potatoes, 8500 ctls barley.

Freights and Charters—The freight market for the week under review has ruled quiet but steady. The engaged list in port has been increased by the arrival of vessels under prior charter, and but little spot business has been transacted. Grain charters for the week have been as follows: Br ship Falls of Foyers, iron, 1916 tons, wheat to U. K., Havre or Antwerp, prechartered prior to arrival at 30s 9d; Br sh Senator, iron, 1695 tons, wheat from Tacoma to U. K., Havre or Antwerp; Br sh Drumpark, iron, 1673 tons, wheat for U. K., Havre or Antwerp, at 35s 6d; Br sh Fort George, iron, 168? tons, wheat for U. K., Havre or Antwerp at 33s 9d; Br sh Iolanthe, iron, 1593 tons, for U. K., Havre or Antwerp, at 35s 6d; Br sh Persian, iron, 1277 tons, wheat for U. K., Havre or Antwerp. Lumber freights have shown rather more activity at steady rates. Charters were bk Margaret, Burrard inlet to West coast; sh Mount Washington, Puget sound to Callao; Br sh Duke of Argyle, Puget sound to West coast; Haw bk Jas. A. King, Puget sound to Honolulu; Swed bk Albatross, Puget sound to Melbourne; bk Ceylon, Puget sound to Honolulu. Coal freights steady but quiet. The ship Rufus E. Wood loads at Tacoma for this port.

Wheat—The principal factor in the wheat market during the past week was the rain, which affected trade to this extent that exporters withdrew largely, leaving wheat to take its own course. It is not thought likely that shipping houses will long continue to hold aloof from the market, as tonnage near at hand will have to be provided for and present appearances do not indicate any large stocks in the hands of exporters; consequently more . . . is looked for at an early date. . . . generally have offered lightly . . . market quotations prevailing to await . . . advices before pressing sales. Compared . . . prices ruling this time last week . . . same. No. 1 shipping selling at $1 27½@1 . . . according to position and size of parcel. Options—Speculative trading was generally quiet and fluctuations during the week were within a narrow range. To-day's forenoon sales were 200 tons buyer year at $1 3?½; buyer season sold at $1 41¼.

Afternoon session: 1200 tons buyer year $1 33¼; buyer season $1 4?⅞.

Barley—The market has ruled very strong and at the close an active movement is noted at advanced quotations. Stocks have been steadily reduced and holders now have the situation more in their favor. Choice feed descriptions meet with ready sales at from 7?@80c; common fine in fair request at 70@7?c; brewing fairly active at 80c; Chevalier $1@1 30 per cental.

Oats—Receipts are gradually becoming quite large, the largest consignment during the week coming from Washington territory and amounting to 4?00 ctls. To-day's receipts include a liberal shipment from the Sound, but the feeling . . . is that the bulk of the crop has been marketed. The tendency of the market is steadily in favor of the selling interest and full figures are being paid on best grades. Quote choice feed $1 32½; No. 1 feed $1 30; common feed $1 1?@1 7½; milling $1 35@1 35.

Millstuffs—A rather easier tone is noted, the demand for the moment being checked and offerings more liberal. Middlings are quotable at $18@19 50 per ton; bran, $13 50@16 50 per ton.

Potatoes—Stocks show some reduction and a firmer feeling is exhibited more especially by holders of the better qualities, which meet with ready sale at an advance. Poor descriptions are neglected and sales forced by concessions. Quote Burbanks 70c@$1 10; Peerless 6?c@$1; Early Rose . . .

Hops—Buyers appear utterly indifferent as regards this product and show no disposition to handle consignments, which are only worked off in small lots and at extremely low figures. Present quotations are given out as being 6@8c per lb.

Wool—Trade has ruled quiet and little interest appears to be taken locally. About the only demand comes from scourers. Quote California, all kinds, 10@22½c; Oregon valley 18½@2?½; Eastern Oregon 1?@18½.

Butter and Eggs—Firm and active.

Bags—Quiet and nominal. Calcutta . . . 6½c.

Miracles Are Not Worked Nowadays.

Indianapolis Journal

The bulk of the vicious elements of the country are in the democratic party and the vicious elements control. It has been so in the past and it will be so in the future unless a miraculous conversion takes place, and miracles so amazing are not worked in these days.

LOST VIGOR. DR. LIEBIG'S INVIGORATOR. HEALTH.

. . . Wonderful GERMAN Invigorator.

THE OLDEST GREATEST AND BEST REMEDY for the cure of Nervous and Physical Debility, Vital Exhaustion, Seminal Weakness, Loss of Manhood, Failing Memory, and Relaxed and Enfeebled Condition of the Genito Urinary Organs.

It speedily cures Impotency, Early Decay, Loss of Vigor, SEMINAL WEAKNESS and all the real effects of youthful follies and abuse or EXCESSES OF MATURITY.

It permanently prevents all unnatural loss from the system, as thousands can attest who have used the Remedy in the past quarter of a century, which it has been before the public.

It is indeed a wonderful remedy—toning the nerves, strengthening the muscles, checking the waste, invigorating the whole system and restoring the afflicted to HEALTH and HAPPINESS.

The reason so many cannot be cured of Weakness and the above diseases is owing to a complication called PROSPATORRHEA with Hyperesthesia, which requires special treatment.

DR. LIEBIG'S INVIGORATOR No. 2, with one peculiar special treatment, is the only positive cure for PROSTATORRHEA. By it MANHOOD is restored and the hand of time moved back from age to youth.

Price of either Invigorator $2. Case of six bottles $10. Sent to any address covered securely from observation.

Dr. Liebig & Co. treat successfully by Homoeopathy every form of SPECIAL, PRIVATE, or CHRONIC DISEASES without mercury or nauseous drugs. If vitality is drained from the body, numerous diseases follow that baffle ordinary medical treatment. If allowed to continue, the unnatural loss causes Consumption, Diabetes, Bright's Disease, Insanity, etc. Cures guaranteed. Diseases of the Genito Urinary organs, kidneys, liver and bladder specially treated. DISEASES OF WOMEN SPEEDILY CURED.

Qualified and Responsible.—Dr. Liebig & Co. from Europe are regular college educated physicians and are now in their nineteenth year of special practice.

If pimples appear on the face and body, if you become listless and easily tired and exhausted, look out for the complication with Seminal Weakness discovered at the LIEBIG DISPENSARY, known as Prostatorrhea. DR. LIEBIG'S INVIGORATOR No. 2 is the only known remedy for the above complication, Prostatorrhea.

Most powerful electric belts free to patrons.

To prove the wonderful power of the Invigorator a $2 bottle given or sent free.

Consultation free and private.

The Oregonian.

PORTLAND, FRIDAY NOV. 1.

There are already thirteen candidates in the field asking the appointment of United States marshal for Washington

The first locomotive of the Puget Sound & Gray's Harbor railroad entered Montesano on Saturday last. The road will be in operation this week

The Tillamook Headlight reports that the fishermen on Nehalem bay are well satisfied having made from $1 0 to $200 apiece in the last two months.

Two well defined cases of diphtheria exist at Astoria. The authorities are taking every precaution and there is no fear of the disease becoming epidemic

C. Beekman of Southern Oregon is looming up dimly as a republican candidate for congress. This of course is in case Hermann can see his way clear to the senate

Placer miners from Snake river report to the Baker City Democrat good results from their fall work in many instances the amount of gold obtained far exceeding their expectations

In his annual report to the secretary of the Interior Governor Shoup of [illegible] he gives the population of the territory as [illegible]. Of this number there are 2[illegible]000 who are adherents of the Mormon faith

It is expected that the collector of customs and postmaster for Astoria will be named in a few days says the Transcript. The Oregon delegation are all at Washington and are wrestling with the difficult problem

The Walla Walla city council by a vote of 5 to 1 passed an ordinance prohibiting stock running at large in the city any time. There is great rejoicing over this at having been accomplished after a five years' struggle

The child recently born at Weston Or without any eyes will be exhibited as a curiosity in dime museums. The parents are poor and the money offered them for the privilege seemed too great a fortune to be refused

"Eastern Oregon exchanges are all joyous over copious rains. The rain is a good thing for the entire state" says the Astorian. In this section it washes the beach and cleans out sewers and preserves the general health

The net taxable property of Union county is only $2 930 760. The county tax levy is 21 19 [illegible] mills to which the state levy of [illegible] mills or more must be added. All of which moves the East Oregonian to remark "Lord pity the taxpayers of Union county"

Last night was Hallow E'en and the matrimonial future of many a young man and maid was foretold by the friendly intervention of apple parings reflections in tubs of water, burning nuts faces in mirrors and a dozen other innocent conjurations

The Seattle Journal is authority for the statement that the Queen City "is the wickedest town of its size in the world. Fifty two gambling games running each night and fourteen opium joints cursing man and home and polluting the very breath of heaven.

"The life of the country editor" says the Polk county Observer "is a continual series of cycles. He works hard to get out the paper to trade the farmers for potatoes to eat to make strength so he can work hard to get out another paper to trade for more potatoes and so on forever

Postmaster General Wanamaker has issued a new schedule of rates for the government telegraph service which are greatly in advance of those first proposed by him but with which President Norvin Green is by no means satisfied and he does not say what action the company will take in the matter

Vancouver fruit growers are setting an example to Lewis county farmers which the latter should imitate at once says the Centralia News. They have built drying houses for their prunes and are shipping dried fruit all over the country. This industry is proving a bonanza and our farmers ought to have a share in the profits

Politicians all over the state are waiting anxiously for democratic removals from Federal offices in this state. In spite of all we read in the democratic papers of the country about the republican guillotine working night and day, the fact remains that nearly all the offices in Oregon are still filled by Cleveland's appointees

A real good sensible American woman has come to the front at last. Miss Gwendolin Caldwell of Washington although worth $10 000 000, refused to allow her would be husband Prince Murat but $10 000 a year for club expenses and cigars. It is rather remarkable that a woman with so much good sense as is shown in this instance should ever have wanted to marry a man like Prince Murat

The track laying camp on the O R & N Co.'s Mullan line is about five miles up from the mouth of the Cœur d'Alene river. Track laying is progressing well but surfacing is behind on account of lack of men. There is need of 200 more men on track laying and surfacing and work for 200 more for three months on riprapping. As soon as the O R & N Co's road reaches Mullan the Northern Pacific will want all these men and more to work on the line from Mullan to Missoula

Last spring Daniel Cratchouse left Brownsville Linn county says the Times of that place for a visit to his old home in Illinois to be gone only two months since which time his friends there have not heard from him and do not know where his address is. He left his trunk and some stock at Brownsville. His friends fear that he has been foully dealt with. Mr Cratchouse was a man about [illegible] years old dark hair and eyes about [illegible] feet [illegible] inches high and weighs about [illegible] pounds. [illegible] clue

A more [illegible] lated infliction [illegible] that has come upon Mrs W[illegible] of [illegible] related by the [illegible] been [illegible] for [illegible] time [illegible] speedy change for the worse [illegible] immediately [illegible] An examination discovered [illegible] sudden and fatal [illegible] of the optic nerve and the information [illegible] as gently as possible that the patient could not retain her sight more than a few days [illegible] was liable to be total [illegible] at any moment. Last [illegible] quietly made such arrangements [illegible] occur to one [illegible] then had her two children attired in their brightest and sweetest costumes brought before her and so with the little faces lifted to hers and the tears gathering for one great misfortune they barely realized the light faded out of their mother's eyes leaving an indelible picture of those dearest to her on earth a memory of the bright faces that will console her in many a dark hour

JOTTINGS ABOUT PORTLAND.

An Opium Den Discovered—Hoodlums Assault a Chinaman

A Bully Beaten—Passed With Honor—Salmon Plentiful—Will Not Be Withdrawn—Court Adjourned—Old Conductors

A BULLY PUNISHED.—At ... o'clock yesterday afternoon a young man employed in one of the neighboring dry goods stores made a very disgusting show of himself on First street near Washington. Several boys between the ages of ... and ... years were selling papers on the corner and the young man endeavored to disperse them, using some pretty strong language. He became involved in a quarrel with the boys and used them very roughly. He chased one little fellow not over ... years old across the street into a pawnbroker's shop where he caught him and hit him several stinging blows in the face. A bystander interfered and separated the young man from his weak victim, when he, too, was pounced upon by the belligerent young salesman. The latter was promptly knocked down, after which he was led to his place of employment by his fellow clerk. The large crowd who witnessed the affair were greatly incensed at the clerk's brutal conduct and it is a wonder he was not more roughly handled.

ARRESTS DURING OCTOBER.—Drunks, ...; roaming the streets after ... P. M., ...; assault and battery, ...; threatening to kill, ...; disorderly conduct, 13; trespass, ...; attempted burglary, ...; vagrancy, 8; disorderly, ...; ... drunk and disorderly, ...; obtaining money by false pretenses, ...; begging, ...; profane and abusive language, ...; robbery, ...; defacing a building, ...; obstructing the sidewalk, ...; insane, ...; lewd cohabitation and keeping an opium den, ...; each selling liquor without a license, selling cigarettes to minors, ...; being found in an opium den, ...; with intent to rape, fast driving, carrying concealed weapons, sending obscene letter to female, keeping a disorderly house, abusive language, cruelty to animals and assault with intent to rob, 1 each. Total number of arrests during the month, 18....

OPIUM JOINT DISCOVERED.—It has been so long since an opium den was heard of that it might be supposed there was nothing of the kind in the city. The police have, however, been keeping an eye on a joint on Second street between Yamhill and Taylor kept by two bad Chinamen, Ah Sing and Ah Jee, and Thursday evening Policemen Byers and ... having seen three white men and a woman enter the place, waited until they had had time to begin smoking, and then forced an entrance into the place. The three men escaped by a rear window, but the woman and the proprietors were arrested and taken to jail. At their examinations in the police court yesterday they each entered a plea of not guilty and asked to have their cases continued one day, which was granted.

COWARDLY AND BRUTAL.—Last evening a Chinaman who looked as if he had been rooting in a pool of blood called at THE OREGONIAN office. He was accompanied by a countryman who spoke English after a fashion and who stated that his friend, while coming along ... street between Clay and Columbia, was set upon by some boys who knocked him down and kicked him. The Chinaman had been abused without doubt, and the English speaking one requested THE OREGONIAN to ask the boys not to be so cruel. THE OREGONIAN would be pleased to influence the boys to reform, but has little hope of exciting much influence for good over a crowd of hoodlums who wantonly beat an inoffensive Chinaman.

THREE OLD CONDUCTORS.—On Thursday three of the oldest railroad conductors in the United States met at the O. R. & N. depot, one of whom is D. C. Bogart, aged ... years, H. P. Leetrow and Andrew Quinton, who at the age of ... years is doing extra conductor work on the New York division of the Pennsylvania railroad. Mr. Leetrow is grand secretary of the Conductors' Old Reliable Life Insurance Association, and Mr. Bogart, now the bailiff of Judge Stearns's court, is the division secretary of the same organization for the Pacific coast and Canada, having acted in that capacity since it was founded.

TAKEN TO THE HOSPITAL.—Wednesday evening a man came to the office of Dr. Clarence Nichols to find out what was the matter with him. He said his name was Stiles and he was from Seattle bound for Kansas. The doctor found that he was sick with typhoid fever, and should have been in bed for several days. The poor fellow had only $19 and his ticket, and the doctor procured a hack and sent him to the Good Samaritan hospital, and yesterday went down to get the ticket extended so that it would be good in case Stiles recovered. He was much better last evening.

WILL NOT BE WITHDRAWN.—In regard to the talk concerning the Canadian Pacific steamers being withdrawn from the China line, Mr. William Dunbar yesterday stated that there need be no fears of any stoppage of the steamers. The company have been running five steamers lately during the tea season. If Mr. William Pierce withdraws his three the company will still have the Port Augusta and Port Fairy, fine high class ships, and they can easily charter all the steamers they want till such time as the ones they have ordered are completed.

SALMON PLENTIFUL.—Although the salmon fishing season is over, there are a great many salmon being caught. One dealer here received over two tons yesterday of the silverside variety and parties are catching and salting them on the Cowlitz and other branches of the Columbia. Large quantities of these silversides are received by all dealers here daily, and the number taken altogether must be very large. Of course the silverside is not equal to the Chinook, but it is salmon and rather a nice fish, too.

THE MULLAN BRANCH.—Mr. J. H. Smith, who has the contract for building the Mullan branch of the O. R. & N., arrived here from the front yesterday. He says that the road is completed a distance of fifty-four miles out from Tekoa, which brings it to the vicinity of the old Mission church. There are thirty-four miles more of track to lay to complete the road to Mullan. Track laying is going ahead at the rate of one and a half miles per day.

THE MORTGAGE TAX LAW.—A special meeting of the Real Estate Exchange has been called at its room, No. 128 First street, this evening at 8 o'clock to discuss the bearing of the mortgage tax law on the real estate market and the general business of the state. Addresses will be made on the subject and action in the matter will be taken. All interested in the subject are invited to attend.

CREDIT AUCTION SALE OF REAL ESTATE.—I. J. O'Connor will sell at public auction without reserve, to the highest bidder, to-morrow (Saturday) at 12 o'clock noon, at No. 1... First street, five full lots in Foxchase addition to East Portland. Terms $20 down, balance $10 per month without interest. People can have these lots at their own price. They will be sold separately.

HONOR FOR A PORTLAND BOY.—George ... Bronson, who left here several weeks since to study music in Germany, writes to a friend here that he passed an examination for admission to the Royal Academy of Music, Berlin, Germany, on the 10th ult. and passed No. 1 among thirty contestants from all parts of Germany, he being the only American in the lot.

CHANGE IN TIME.—The attention of the public is called to important changes in time of Astoria steamers, taking effect to-day. See O. R. & N. Co. advertisement. The ... J. Potter, formerly leaving Portland every evening except Sunday at 8 o'clock, now leaves at 11:30 P. M. Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays only. Time of other steamers is also changed.

McCoy, No. 10 Stark, ... corner of First, upstairs, and secure ... lots ... $100 ... weekly installments of $1 ... without interest ... and small first payment. All cleared, level, ... and sightly. THE ELECTRIC CARS WILL RUN.—One of the cars of the ... motor line to Albina was run over the line from Russell street to the foot of ... street on this side of the river about 8 ... last evening. It is understood the line worked first rate and that the ... will be running to-day.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

In order to bring our stock of Dress Goods more prominently before the public we have temporarily transferred our immense line of Trimmings to our Dress Goods counters and placed them on sale at cost for three days.

OUR REASONS For making this offer are already set forth. That they may be understood by all we will simply say that it is a common remark among the ladies that the trimmings of a dress cost more than the dress material. This fact often deters a lady from purchasing as fine a fabric as she desires, and she will sacrifice the quality of the garment in order to trim the same in an elaborate manner.

WE CLAIM To have the most elegant stock of Black and Colored Dress Goods in Portland and are perfectly willing to submit our claim to the judgment of the public.

A COMPETENT JUDGE Will examine into a case and scrutinize every particle of evidence offered before rendering a decision.

MADAM Your opinion is solicited. Please, however, extend us the courtesy of examining our lines of Dress Goods before rendering your decision. We are perfectly willing to abide by your verdict provided you will examine into the evidence we have to offer in the shape of

TRIMMINGS AT COST and DRESS GOODS AT LOWER PRICES
than are named by any competitor for same quality of goods.

THE PRICES We quote you on our Dress Goods are our regular every day prices and are marked in plain figures on the goods. You can buy them now or a month from now at the same price.

THE GREAT INDUCEMENT We offer is TRIMMINGS AT COST FOR THREE DAYS, as we know full well that many a lady is postponing her purchase of Fall and Winter Dresses owing to the cost of suitable trimmings for the same.

OUR OBJECT As heretofore stated is to bring our Dress Goods Department prominently before the ladies of Portland. We will welcome you just as cordially if you simply call to examine our many lines of Dress Fabrics as though you come as an intending purchaser.

OUR AIM Is to convince you that we have not overstated the facts when we say that we have the largest, best selected and most elegant line of Dress Fabrics in the city of Portland.

OUR PREMIUM Is TRIMMINGS AT COST for Three Days. Remember you purchase the trimmings no matter whether you purchase a dress or not, as an inducement ... have the dress and want the trimming ... Do us the ... of ... our Dress Goods.

PORTLAND. FRIDAY, NOV. 1.

THE FOURTEENTH AMENDMENT.

The bill prepared by Representative Houk, of Tennessee, providing for the control of congressional elections by Federal power, is a simple expression of the natural indignation inspired by the notorious and outrageous denial and suppression of popular suffrage in the South. Having given expression to this sentiment, the proposed measure has probably served its only useful purpose and will fall to the ground. It is necessary to admit at the outset that it is not a practicable measure of legislation. The evil at which it is aimed is flagrant and the need of a remedy is crying, but the remedy is not to be found in legislation which even if it ran the gauntlet of constitutional interpretation, does violence to the traditions of the country, and runs counter to the tendencies of the time. However just and salutary in the abstract, the concrete statutory realization of the principles of Houk's bill would shock public opinion in a large part of the country, North as well as South, and invite public protest and opposition strong enough to paralyze its effective execution. More than this, the attempt to put the law into practical operation in the Southern states would bring on an endless series of conflicts between the state and Federal judiciary and executive and lead to an intolerable straining of the already sensitive relations between the general and local governments. It is doubtful if such a law as Mr Houk proposes could be enforced at all. If it could it would only be at a cost of popular discontent, civil strife and resulting strain to the framework of our institutions quite incommensurate with the good to be gained by it. This is precisely in accord with the practical conclusion reached by Grant and Hayes in 1877, when they abandoned the attempt to control elections in the South and suffered the Federal laws to that end to fall into disuse. These Federal laws are still upon the statute books by the way. It might be wise for any legislator who seriously proposes to add to their number to inquire and consider why those now in existence are not enforced. He would simply discover, what all the presidents since Grant have discovered, that the game is not worth the candle.

How, then, is the flagrant evil of suppression and denial of suffrage in the South, so universal and persistent, so open and shameless as to constitute an open crime against the republic to be remedied? This is a question easier to ask than to answer. It began to be asked fifteen years ago, and the oracle is still dumb. It is one of the penalties of our wonderfully complex and flexible system of government that the citizens of a state may do a civil wrong to the whole country, which only the state can prevent or punish, and which must go unprevented or unpunished if the state chooses to wink at it. Technically, elections for congress and presidential electors are in the jurisdiction of the Federal power; but by use and tradition hardened into customary law, they have passed under the control of the same agency and machinery that conducts the simultaneously occurring state elections. Hence the powerlessness of the United States to punish individuals in the several states for the wholesale suppression or perversion of suffrage without what would be construed in the popular mind as an invasion of the local rights and jurisdiction. The ultimate offender is the state whose neglect to secure fair and equal suffrage to all its citizens is a crime against the whole republic. The constitution affords a means to punish a state for a denial of suffrage to any portion of its citizens when such denial is formal or statutory. The fourteenth amendment declares that whenever any state shall refuse the right of suffrage to any part of its population, its representation in congress may be proportionately reduced. Why may not the same punitory agency be employed when the denial of suffrage is made by individuals in a state unprevented and unpunished by its authorities?

If any means other than the gradual extension of public education and the elevation of the moral standard in the South is ever found to check and remedy the evil of wholesale denial and perversion of suffrage we believe it will be through the fourteenth amendment to the constitution. The remedy will not be easy to apply. The principle must first be established that in this case the state is answerable for the acts of its individual citizens. Then it must be demonstrated to the satisfaction of congress, the president and the courts that there is such a general denial of suffrage in certain states as comes within the meaning of the act. This should be easy enough at this moment when it is as notorious as possible that in more than half the Southern states the colored vote is not permitted to be cast or if cast is not counted or if counted is counted wrong. Finally congress must have intelligence to comprehend just what are its powers under the constitution and courage to act up to their full measure. The effectiveness of such a measure as is suggested lies in the fact that it would execute itself without any machinery of supervisors deputy marshals election officers or courts. Congress has simply to satisfy itself that suffrage is denied to a measurable fraction of the voting population in any state, reduce the representation of that state in congress by an act of legislation, and refuse admission to any members elected in excess of the reduced quota. This may not be a perfect remedy for the evil but it seems the most promising in sight.

WAITING FOR THE WAGON

Our amiable and inoffensive chief of the police explains what the matter is and has been with his department for some years, when he says they have been "waiting for the wagon." A casual inspection of the police will convince anybody that these languid people would rather at any time ride ten miles than walk ten rods and we have no doubt that their restless and feverishly energetic chief is correct when he says that the police have been waiting for the patrol wagon as the bright harbinger of a radical readjustment of municipal affairs as regards the management of the police department. A good many plain people heretofore have been of the opinion that this radical readjustment of municipal affairs as regards the police department was not likely to take place until we had a police board that was not a mere flywheel to a political machine. A good many plain people have thought that the decapitation of the chief and the substitution of an efficient man [illegible] energetic and intelligent [illegible] the police force and that the [illegible] of rotten and worthless men from the force would not demoralize it. But these plain people are all wrong. Our Portland police [illegible] the one thing to make them the [illegible] on the planet they want is a patrol wagon [illegible] but light great Jove was the prayer of Ajax and all our constitutionally tired guardians of the peace want is a patrol wagon. Why not? This "patrol wagon" would be a grand leveller and equalization board for the police men. Aged or decayed policemen, those crippled by rheumatism, burdened by obesity or suffering from the effect of alcoholic locomotor ataxia can enter upon a new and enlarged epoch of unexpected usefulness through the patrol wagon. The lean and slippered policeman who cannot now run a block without asthmatic agonies is as good as swift footed Achilles on the ground when he becomes the Automedon of the patrol wagon or war chariot of the department. A winged Mercury is no longer a necessity of the police force, for his place is easily filled by lifting into the patrol wagon any spavined policeman who is not so decrepit that he cannot deftly and swiftly drive. When Gibbs shot young McDevitt doubtless he would have been run quickly to cover and arrested had a "patrol wagon" followed his track, for in this way physical energy which our police are accused of lacking, is no longer necessary, since the mental energy of the crippled and contemplative police man can be easily transmitted by the electric wire of the whip lash, leading from his brain and hand, to the sensitive flanks of the fiery steeds that naturally "feel their oats" when Caesar sits on the box and drives. Had there been a "patrol wagon" Gibbs would be to-day in custody, and the morning glories of popular praise would be climbing all over the chief and wreathing with purple clusters his Rhadamanthine brow.

The bloodhound has ceased to be an "annex" of the machinery of justice. He has been relegated to barbaric obscurity by the invention of the "patrol wagon" which when driven with the energy that is always characteristic of those astute persons who never walk when there is a chance to ride can "tire the hound's deep hate the hunter's fire."

If there should be a "patrol wagon" doubtless our police would occasionally arrest a murderer as they would no longer be obliged to walk or run after him. They might then at intervals make the rounds after midnight and close certain "dives" that now make a racket that robs their decent neighbors of their necessary sleep. If there was a "patrol wagon" the police would perhaps bag some larger game than an imbecile Chinaman or a tipsy cyprian creeping home after twelve.

THE DEFENSES OF PUGET SOUND AND THE COLUMBIA RIVER.

The points officially recommended for the erection of batteries on Puget sound are Wilson's Point, Admiralty Head and Marrowstone Point. The board is of the opinion that these points are of equal importance and entirely dependent on each other for any value that batteries of not less than ten rifled guns and from eight to twelve rifled mortars of the largest caliber and greatest penetration should be erected at all three of these points and that the permanent strength of the garrisons should not be less than two companies of troops at each place. General Gibbon is also of the opinion that Deception Pass is a point of first importance for the erection of batteries to complete the fortification of the entrances to the waters of the Sound.

Scarborough Head, on Chinook Point, opposite Fort Stevens, from its high command and proximity to the channel through which the entire commerce of the Columbia river must pass on its way to and from the sea, is described as by far the most important even as it is the most desirable defensive position at the entrance of the harbor. Fort Stevens and Fort Canby, now unoccupied, are about six and one half miles apart. Between them lies the main channel, but at such distance from either as to be beyond the effective range of even the 8 inch converted rifle the most powerful gun now in service. The defenses of the harbor, as they now exist, cannot be relied on to bar the entrance to the Columbia of the most insignificant of modern war vessels. The Columbia will admit over the bar vessels of twenty four feet draught of the class of English belted cruisers armed with two 9 2-inch and ten 6-inch rifles high power guns.

The proposed armament for the mouth of the Columbia includes twelve 10 inch steel rifled guns, seven 8-inch steel rifles seven simple barbette batteries, thirty two 12 inch rifled mortars and two 16 gun mortar batteries. The proposed armament for the waters of Puget sound includes twenty eight 12 inch steel rifled guns sixty four 10-inch steel rifles twenty 8 inch steel rifles, one hundred and twenty eight 12-inch rifled mortars and eight 16-gun mortar batteries.

The total estimated cost of the proposed armament for the land defenses of the mouth of the Columbia is $1 155 150 and that of the land defenses of Puget sound $11 620 000. The placing of Oregon and Washington in a complete condition of sea coast defense will cost in all $12 781 150.

A COMPREHENSIVE RAILWAY SCHEME

It is believed that the new scheme for combination and development of railways in the state of Washington an outline of which was given yesterday in THE OREGONIAN'S special dispatches from Washington City, divulged through the action of the projectors in seeking from the secretary of the interior rights of way over public lands and across navigable streams has its basis in the enterprise of the Oregon Improvement Company. The business of his company is in a prosperous condition and its managers are understood to be looking for channels through which the scope of its enterprises may be enlarged and extended. It is understood further that large increase of the capital stock of the company is contemplated, and that the securities may be readily marketed if indeed they have not already been placed.

Mr Elijah Smith, president of the Oregon Improvement Company, is believed to be the principal author and promoter of this comprehensive plan. The field is a fine one for a man of his energy courage and ability. It is not doubted that though the Oregon Improvement Company and the proposed railway combination resources may be obtained for carrying out the general design. This would give Washington, especially the western portion of the state, nearly all the additional railway lines it needs and through connection with Portland would greatly extend the commercial facilities of this city. Information received through private sources lends probability to the report that this combination has been effected and that its purpose is actual business on a large scale.

THE DICTATES OF PRUDENCE

The report of General Miles gives in detail and in the unmistakable language of a man who is thoroughly conversant with his subject—the actual defenselessness of the coast line of the nation and especially of its Pacific shores. Without being an alarmist he sounds a note of warning that the fifty first congress if composed of prudent men thoroughly alive to the vital interests of the nation that are thus menaced by possibilities will not fail to consider seriously with a view to placing the Pacific seaboard in an adequate state of defense from the mighty ironclads that are such a tremendous factor in the world's armament.

In [illegible] that we have not reached the perfection of human society in which it is safe to trust our [illegible] in a defenseless condition, General Miles calls attention to a simple fact known and acknowledged by all and yet one which has been completely ignored by the government [illegible] the ports of entry to valuable and prosperous sections to remain wholly without protection from an invading foe. The bare outline of the disaster that is made possible by this negligence on the part of the government to properly provide for the protection of its own is sufficient to arouse prudent apprehension and to urge upon congress the consideration of the question of coast defenses without delay. Five hundred millions of dollars worth of destructible property within the undisputed reach of naval vessels on the Pacific coast alone is a statement of fact the figures of which are mildly estimated. It is not wise to say the least to tempt the avarice and cupidity of the world by leaving our store houses of industry and vast depositories of wealth at the mercy of its magnanimity. Whatever may be said of the absolute honesty that renders bolts and locks unnecessary for the protection of property or money in certain so-called heathen countries it is certain that the open door invites the despoiler in Christian lands. For a nation that has been standing helpless in the presence of an enormous surplus in its treasury to open its eyes and see a coast line of thousands of miles without means of defense may be regarded as evidence that the politicians and not the statesmen or financiers have been conducting the affairs of the government during an era of peace and abundance. A poverty stricken nation, the resources of which were not adequate to meet the common demands of life in peace, might be excused for neglecting to throw up barriers for its defense in case of war but for a nation to look in dismay at its vaults teeming with treasure and neglect to provide for itself defenses adequate to the changed methods and implements of warfare of an active aggressive and ingenious age is to invite the wonder of folly itself. Certainly no one can read the report of General Miles with the attention that its weighty propositions deserve without feeling that there is a legitimate use for the surplus that was the nightmare of the last administration and that it will be to the credit of the present administration if measures are taken to apply such a portion of it as may be necessary to provide adequate defenses for the nation's long coast line that if it does not in its present condition invite attack is utterly powerless to expel it.

The country tapped by the lines of the Oregonian railway is rich in agricultural resources and is being rapidly developed. The line under intelligent and energetic business management should be made to pay. It should also be made a convenience to shippers and to the travelling public that is at once reliable, and adequate to the demands of the traffic that it seeks. A crippled enterprise naturally goes halt. After a time little is expected of it, and that little often fails to be realized. This has been the case to a greater or less degree with this road for several years, and the prospect that it is about to be placed upon a substantial financial basis will be hailed with delight by the people of the regions that it traverses. Since life is not worth the living in any civilized community at the present day in which there is no railway or other regular transportation facilities to grumble about, no one will be foolish enough to expect the complaints against this road to cease because of change of ownership or management, but it will be a relief to have the monotonous tale of slow trains leaking coaches failure to make connections and the long line of like familiar grievances varied by complaints of exorbitant rates careless handling of freight, etc which are standard growls and always in plentiful stock.

President Eliot, of Harvard recently announced himself a democrat. In giving the reasons for his departure to that party he said:

Now, the republican party has a great past. It was formed for the carrying out of a great moral idea and it did carry it forward to triumph. But it fell from its high estate and when I found that it no longer stood for the principles I believed in I felt myself obliged to join the opposite party.

A moment later he said:

In the first place, I believe that in principle I was first a whig, and then a republican, and almost a protectionist. I came to believe that the protective policy was a false one. I came to believe that the protective duties so called protected capital but not labor, and that even this protection to capital was undesirable in the long run. Now between the republican policy as regards taxes and the democratic policy the issues are sharply divided, and any man who holds to my opinions on those issues must join the democratic party.

The American Economist, after quoting these extracts, remarks:

President Eliot thus confesses that it is he and not the republican party that has changed. The principles which he now repudiates have from its beginning been the principles of the party which he says "has a great past." Neither has the democracy changed. Men who believed as he now does have always been democrats.

The president is quoted as saying that he proposes to permit all "good democrats" to continue in office until the expiration of their terms. In order that democrats who hold Federal offices in this state may not waste time in posing in an unfamiliar role it may be well to remind them that the administration probably reserves the right to place its own interpretation upon the term "good democrats" as applied to office holders. Precedent as established by the late administration will be fatal to their continuance under Cleveland's ruling in office. It will be remembered that a republican who could so far forget himself while holding office under a democratic administration as to vote his party ticket had the adjective "good" remorselessly stricken from his list of qualifications and was adjudged an "offensive partisan." his temerity in going to the polls being considered conclusive proof of a "pernicious activity" that was promptly rebuked by official decapitation. Whether President Harrison will adhere to this rigid standard of political virtue remains to be seen, but it will not be surprising if he shows a lawyer's respect for precedent in the premises.

One of the first fruits of the Union Pacific Northwest Alliance is the termination of the traffic agreement with the Manitoba under which shipments were made from St Paul to the coast by way of Great Falls Butte and the Utah Northern. This provided for a considerable volume of business embracing not only that originating at St Paul but that which comes from the head of Lake Superior. The Union Pacific will now take all this business at Omaha from the lines of the Chicago St Paul Minneapolis & Omaha getting a much longer haul on it. This is only one of a number of cases where the Union Pacific's new alliance will break up its old arrangements and deprive its old time allies of their Western connection. The natural result will be a general effort on the part of lines thus left in the air to form new transcontinental connections or in default of them to push their own lines on to the coast. For example the loss of the Utah connection will hasten the building of the Manitoba to Spokane Falls.

Among appointments to be made in the state of Washington will be that of United States district judge. The friends of Hon Henry G Struve of Seattle intend to present his name for the position. Mr Struve as a resident of Washington during twenty five years has become generally and favorably known not only in that state but throughout all the Pacific states and territories. As a lawyer he has long held a leading position at the bar [illegible] his legal attainments and general fitness [illegible] in the position of district judge of the United States [illegible] the country at large.

Judge De Wolfe of Montana has issued a peremptory order commanding the canvassers of the returns in Silver Bow county to count and return the vote of the disputed precinct. This would shut off all inquiry as to the frauds charged in the precinct and would give the legislature to the democrats. The republicans have moved for an appeal to the supreme court. Judge De Wolfe has acted according to his party bias as it was supposed he would. He is a democrat appointed by President Cleveland, and has been allowed to remain in office as large numbers of Cleveland's appointees have been. He was a candidate also for justice of the supreme court of the state and besides his partisan feeling in the election he has a personal interest in having all democratic returns counted. It is hard to say what the result of this controversy will be but it is certain that there was grossly improper and corrupt interference by men connected with the Northern Pacific railroad in the Montana election that the precinct in dispute was simply a railroad camp and that the vote cast was manufactured by certain sub contractors working under orders from a combination of railroad officials and democratic bosses. It is however one of those abuses whose results under our system are extremely difficult to redress.

They do these things so much differently in England. The Manchester Examiner thinking to put Mrs John W Mackay down in the esteem of aristocratic society in England said that before Mackay married her she was a poor widow with two children and was a washerwoman for Nevada miners. The funny consequence of this is that Mrs Mackay, forgetting that the American washerwoman is an American duchess has sued the Examiner for libel, contending in her complaint that she was a lady by birth and education and accustomed to association with persons of good position. Mrs Mackay has been absent from America so long that she has evidently forgotten that the washer woman in her beloved country is a person of as good birth and position as anybody and that the husband of the woman who would assert the contrary could never be President Harrison or Governor Tennessee.

The report that Chief Justice Fuller of the United States supreme court will be the democratic presidential candidate in 1892 is not likely to be verified by events. Fuller was a member of the copperhead faction of the Illinois legislature in 1862-63 and opposed with his voice and vote a resolution indorsing Lincoln's issue of the emancipation proclamation. He never ought to have been appointed to the head of the supreme court and never would have been thus honored save that the president who appointed him was a more convicted and corrosive copperhead than even Fuller himself. The people will elect an ex-Confederate president quicker than they will a narrow brained unpatriotic cold boweled Northern copperhead.

The Iron and Steel Trade Journal of London says that "it is a fact that in the manufacture of many kinds of machinery the Americans can beat the English in price." It also says: "Wages in the United States are about 50 per cent higher than in this country materials are from 25 to 50 per cent dearer yet the finished machinery can be put on the market cheaper." It is true that the Americans cannot send out machines to neutral markets any cheaper than is done by our manufacturers but it is surprising that they can at least meet us in price. This fact is undoubtedly due to the superior methods in the shops in this country and particularly to the more general substitution of machinery for hand power.

There seems to be more mutual affection good feeling and consideration in the Ferry divorce case than there is in many a society marriage. The parties to it lose no opportunity to say pleasant things about each other in the newspapers and their personal relations, as evidenced in their conduct when together are highly affectionate. There is a delightful flavor of divorce reform about all this. The case is commended to the notice of the commissioner of statistics who is collecting data for the comparative study of the subject of divorce.

All who were wounded in the Kentucky fight last week will recover. This means that hostilities will be resumed sooner or later according to the length of time required for the wounds of individuals of the opposing factions to heal. A Kentucky feud is not settled by wounds. Extermination is the only acknowledged remedy for anything so unreasoning and so deadly as a quarrel between ignorant isolated people who worship brute force and are quick to resent real or fancied injuries or results.

Acting upon the advice of General Schofield the secretary of war has denied the request for the removal of the headquarters of the Department of the Columbia from Vancouver to Portland. There are many reasons of convenience and economy for locating the office of a military department in a great city but these seem to be offset in this case by the peculiar desirability of Vancouver as a place of residence. Nobody can blame the officers for unwillingness to leave their pleasant home at this post.

The New York Times recently said: "It is significant that within a fortnight or so the Nickle Plate has received more than 1000 carloads of Ohio grapes for points west of the Rocky mountains. In Montana these grapes have almost driven California grapes from the market." When Oregon which can produce the same varieties of table grapes as Ohio and in greater abundance and certainty than Ohio develops her grape industry Montana will buy all her grapes of Oregon and not of Ohio.

The commissioner of the general land office finds a great deal of fault with the survey of the Umatilla reservation for a great many grave mistakes in which he finds Surveyor General Tavor of Oregon responsible. Mr Taylor has always had the reputation of a competent officer and it may turn out that somebody else has made the blunders for which he is so unmercifully rated. The Oregon senators will probably wait for Taylor's explanation before asking his removal on the ground of incompetency.

The reported consolidation of the Herald and Times ought to give Chicago a democratic paper that can keep its head above water. The Herald has been phenomenally bright and readable but it hasn't made money while the Times has vacillated between bankruptcy and sustenance by blackmail. Together they ought to make a living and be honest and reliable at the same time. The Herald ought to furnish the brains and skill for the new combination. It has enough for both.

We don't know how much these men receive from the Portland timber syndicates to take up this land or whether they are locating for themselves but we believe that the timber lands of Clatsop county are being bought up by Portland syndicates for speculative purposes. The men who came down to-day will locate on the unsurveyed lands in the Nehalem. As nearly all this land is better adapted for agriculture than for timber the prospects for a hundred or more contests is very flattering. We would like to inquire if this land has been thrown open for settlement. Perhaps J T Apperson can throw some light on the subject.

PROGRESS IN RAILROAD BUILDING

THE HUNT ROAD TO EASTERN OREGON.

Walla Walla Chieftain. In answer to a communication addressed to him from the railroad committee at Union G W Hunt states that he will be over soon to make final arrangements for the extension of his road to Grand Ronde. He will be at Union Thursday, October 31 Summerville Friday November 1 and Elgin Saturday November 2 to meet the people in mass convention. Mr Hunt expects to build his road to Grand Ronde via Elgin, provided the subsidy subscribers will extend the time named in the contract to December 1891. It is thought there will be no trouble in arranging the matter satisfactorily to all parties concerned.

THE PROPOSITION A FAIR ONE.

Union Scout. The explanation of Mr Hunt appears to us satisfactory and his proposition fair as it would be unreasonable to expect him to complete the road by the time first specified. By his proposition the completion of the road will be delayed one season but so will the payment of the subsidies. To recompense us for the loss of time he agrees to commence work at this end of the road which is certainly a very great concession. Should his proposition be accepted, a next summer hundreds of men will be at work along the line in this valley drawing their supplies from our farmers and spending their money in our midst.

ALTERATIONS ON THE CANADIAN PACIFIC.

Inland Sentinel (B C). Some extensive alterations on the line of the Canadian Pacific railroad between Winnipeg and Port Arthur are proposed. The work involves the construction of a new road bed in many places to avoid long and tortuous curves the rebuilding of trestles and bridges etc with a view of making the road solid and permanent as well as shortening the distance considerably between Winnipeg and Lake Superior. Work will likely be commenced this fall some distance this side of Rat Portage.

THE ASTORIA AND SOUTH COAST.

Astoria Pioneer. Engineer Habersham has gone to Hillsboro to begin active work on the A & S C R R running this way. In about two weeks he expects to have his locations made and start in breaking ground and throwing up a grade. The Hillsboro people will now be relieved of their uneasiness as to be assured by a substantial guarantee that their subsidy of $11 000 has been favorably considered by such active work upon the road. We shall see the line completed earlier than September 1891, and the Pioneer is of the opinion that not more than a year will elapse before trains will be running into Hillsboro from Astoria.

THE SEATTLE & SOUTHERN RAILROAD.

Kalama Bulletin. The Seattle & Southern surveyors made the permanent survey through Kalama Wednesday. A PENSION BILL TO BE PASSED

Turpie Says There Will Be No Captious Democratic Opposition to Republican Legislation —Platt on Coast Defenses.

The senate committee on the funded indebtedness of the Pacific railroads arrived yesterday afternoon. Their special train reached L street East Portland at 2 30 half an hour ahead of time and there was no one on hand to meet them. Manager Koehler of the Southern Pacific's Oregon lines, however had telegraphed to this city for carriages which were in waiting and the visitors took a drive about the city. While they were out, their train was transferred from East Portland to the Southern Pacific yards at the foot of G street. During their drive they visited the principal public buildings, and took a run through the resident district. The afternoon was bright and warm, and they had a pleasant time. They were much pleased with their ride through the Willamette valley. The New England members said the valley reminded them more of home than any place they had seen since they came West.

The party is not so large as when it started. Senator Morgan left it at Los Angeles, and is on his way to Washington via New Orleans. He has not been very well. Senators Stanford and Hearst, of California left it at Tehama. Senators Frye and Davis are accompanied by their wives, and Senator Dawes by his daughter, Miss Anna L. Dawes who has quite a reputation as a writer. Senators Platt and Turpie are alone. The other members of the party are John M Thurston, of Omaha, general solicitor of the Union Pacific, and wife, Charles B Reade deputy sergeant at arms of the senate, J H Briggs and wife, of Maine, and Woodbury Pulsifer, the stenographer. Mrs Briggs is the daughter of Senator Frye. Messrs Reade and Briggs have charge of the party. Mr Reade was here with Senator Hoar's party several months ago.

The visitors will be the guests of the Board of Trade to-day. They will leave Ash street wharf on the steamer T J Potter at 7 30 A M. At Astoria they will be transferred to a tug which will steam to Fort Stevens where they will board a train and be taken to the end of the jetty tramway which now extends two and a half miles into the ocean. The process of driving piles by hydraulic pressure will be explained to them, and in general they will be made acquainted with the details of the great improvement, the benefit which has already been derived from it and the necessity of appropriations for its immediate completion. Senators Hoar, Pugh, Allison and other congressmen who have visited the mouth of the river this year as guests of the Portland Board of Trade have expressed themselves in favor of appropriating enough money to complete the jetty as early as men and money will do it instead of making appropriations from year to year. If the senators who will view the jetty to-day are as favorably impressed the Columbia river will have some sturdy friends in the next congress.

After seeing the Columbia the visitors will go to the Sound. Returning to Portland they will proceed eastward via the Union Pacific.

THE CENTRAL PACIFIC NOT GOOD SECURITY.

The senators have been taking good note of the condition of the Union and Central Pacific roads to ascertain if they are good security for their debt to the government. Senator Frye in a talk with a reporter said some sharp things about the Central Pacific. This is what Senator Platt said:

I think the Union Pacific has a good property. It is worth all its indebtedness and more, provided the unaided as well as the aided lines are embraced. The Central Pacific cannot give the government as good security as the Union Pacific can. Whether if the Central Pacific would consent to give the government security upon its unaided as well as its aided lines, which would be adequate, I am unable at present to say. The Central Pacific has good roads running north and south in California but the overland line which is the one aided by the government upon which the government now has security, is not very profitable.

Last night the train stood in the yard just north of the Southern Pacific building. After supper visitors were received. OREGONIAN reporters talked with four of the senators. Senator Dawes was unwell and retired early and was not disturbed.

SENATOR PLATT ON COAST DEFENSES.

Senator Platt declined to be interviewed on Connecticut politics. "Ask me about almost anything else but that," he said good humoredly. When the subject of coast defenses was broached he settled back into a comfortable position shifted his cigar and entered upon an animated talk. He said:

I have always been in favor of providing coast defense and I think the Eastern people are of a similar opinion. In selecting points to be defended I would be governed by the advice of engineers. General Miles has just made a thorough report on this subject to the secretary of war and I have no doubt but he has named the points at which fortifications should be established.

"Are you in favor of spending a specified amount for defenses?"

"What is a horse worth?" asked the senator.

The reporter said he did not know and Senator Platt continued: That is just my answer. Nobody who is not entirely familiar with the necessity and the cost of particular works can answer that question. My wish is simply to have adopted such measures as are proper to establish and maintain such defenses as are reasonable and necessary. I believe this can be done at a cost not to exceed the proper expenditure of government money. Whatever is necessary to be expended ought to be expended. If there is no immediate danger that nation always invites attack which fails to put itself in readiness to repel one and until all nations have fully recognized the settlement of difficulties by arbitration or some peaceable method, we cannot afford to assume that we are never to have any difficulties with other nations or that if we do have difficulties we can, when in an absolutely defenceless condition settle them with honor to ourselves peacefully. In my mind, defences against attack are indispensable.

NO CAPTIOUS DEMOCRATIC OPPOSITION.

Senator Turpie was smoking his evening cigar when seen. He is a pleasant faced man, with iron gray beard and mustache. He is the only democratic senator in the party. He was in the senate for a little more than two months in 1863 taking the seat of Jesse D Bright the Indiana copperhead who was expelled. In 1887 he was chosen to succeed President Harrison. Senator Turpie was disinclined to talk about politics, Indiana or national. In reply to a question as to what course the democrats should pursue now that they are in a minority he spoke briefly, touching on various topics. This is what he said:

I don't think any captious opposition will be offered to any legislation which the majority may propose but I think that as far as argument and a legitimate field of parliamentary debate are concerned every opposition will be made to peculiar republican policy which may be proposed.

I do not think the present tariff law will be substantially changed even by the efforts of the republican majority. I think the republican party is benefited by the law and is well enough satisfied with its present provisions. The present tariff rates constitute a specimen of class legislation heretofore unparalleled in the history of the country.

I think the apportionment of the next census [illegible] number of persons in the electoral college [illegible] upon the votes of New York, New Jersey [illegible] Connecticut heretofore [illegible] admission of the new states [illegible] democratic states will [illegible]

[illegible]

In reference to the subjects of the committee's [illegible] he said:

It is [illegible] on the part of [illegible] representatives of the government [illegible] to find the [illegible] the debt of the Union Pacific [illegible] time. It is our duty to ascertain [illegible] these roads to pay their indebtedness with a view to the extension of time [illegible] whether or not an arrangement can be [illegible] which a certain amount will be paid annually by the companies. The interest to be reduced from 6 per cent [illegible]

"A committee was sent [illegible] ago on the same matter, and [illegible] inous report, on the strength of [illegible] Cleveland sent a message to [illegible] a settlement be made with [illegible]

In my opinion, the Union Pacific [illegible] able to secure the government [illegible] ment of the entire debt [illegible] anything in the future can be [illegible] Central is very much less. [illegible] Pacific is not worth enough to [illegible] large bonds. It is absolutely [illegible] or branch roads [illegible]

THE NEW STATES [illegible]

Distribution Into Classes [illegible] of Their Terms.

Chicago Inter-Ocean.

There is one fact connected with [illegible] from the new states to which [illegible] been paid, yet it is a subject of [illegible] the candidates for the United [illegible] those states. It probably is not [illegible] bered, if it is known, that under [illegible] stances it will not be possible [illegible] of these states to determine [illegible] term of office of the senators [illegible] elect, and that neither of the [illegible] they may elect can tell [illegible] term of office will be until [illegible] hand in the presence of the United [illegible] to be sworn in. This element of [illegible] an additional interest to the [illegible] proceeding in the new [illegible] United States senate. The [illegible] United States (under article I, [illegible] makes a provision as to the [illegible] tors which creates this doubt [illegible] office of the senators from the [illegible] article it is provided that "immediately [illegible] (United States senators) shall [illegible] consequence of the first election [illegible] vided as equally as may be into [illegible] seats of the senators of the first [illegible] cated at the expiration of the [illegible] second class at the expiration of [illegible] and of the third class at the [illegible] sixth year so that one-third may [illegible] second year." The classification [illegible] of the first congress was made [illegible] this provision by lot. What will [illegible] luck of the senators from the [illegible] December? There can be no [illegible] tion by lot for it will be necessary [illegible] to distribute the new senators [illegible] existing class fication. In class [illegible] twenty five senators whose terms [illegible] March 4, 1893. In class two there [illegible] senators whose terms will expire [illegible] In class three there are [illegible] whose terms will expire March 4, [illegible]

Ultimately the eight senators [illegible] states will be equally divided [illegible] classes, when each class will [illegible] eight senators. When the [illegible] shall be added to the existing [illegible] will be eighty four members of [illegible] will be equally distributed into the [illegible] tutional classes. Now if the [illegible] one of the new states shall [illegible] sworn in on the first Monday in [illegible] two senators will be distributed [illegible] third classes.

The second class now having [illegible] bers, and the first and third [illegible] twenty five members respectively [illegible] senators who present themselves [illegible] alone, will be assigned, the one [illegible] the terms of which will expire [illegible] to the third class, the term of [illegible] in 1891. And so far as can be [illegible] experienced parliamentarians [illegible] ate, it will not be possible [illegible] new state or for the [illegible] determine which of the [illegible] the longest term. It would [illegible] will have to be determined by lot [illegible] here. If only one state shall [illegible] tors at the beginning of congress [illegible] the senators can have a term of [illegible] be necessary to assign [illegible] one and three shall each have [illegible] bers, and thus be equalized with [illegible] which already has twenty [illegible] these senators could [illegible] March 4 1891, or only two years [illegible] of the other would be two years [illegible] March 4 1893. If however, the [illegible] from the new states should be [illegible] in December or January [illegible] would be different from what [illegible] cept in the first congress [illegible] course present a [illegible] their relative terms [illegible] by lot. At no time since [illegible] has more than one state [illegible] one time. It will no be [illegible] eight senators from the new [illegible] among themselves, or it [illegible] senators from the same state [illegible] the same length which is [illegible] the senate and in violation of [illegible] of the provision of the [illegible] What action will be taken [illegible] men of the senate to determine [illegible] plan that the senators from [illegible] democratic additional [illegible] their assignment to the classes [illegible] majority in the senate [illegible] the democratic senators [illegible] signed to the classes [illegible] and four year terms respectively [illegible] on the other hand would be [illegible] these senators respectively [illegible] year classes. [illegible] tional provision, and [illegible] that there is any [illegible] for such a contingency [illegible] which seems assured [illegible] senators from the new [illegible] [illegible] or six years [illegible] the senators at once [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] to the first [illegible]

It is our business to find [illegible] roads really are what their [illegible] their branches are and what [illegible] they run through, in order to determine [illegible] they could fulfill these new [illegible] United States should an extension [illegible] granted as it is well understood [illegible] road could pay its debt at maturity [illegible] edness of the roads is considered [illegible] under the original act no interest [illegible] until maturity which [illegible] life of the loans would [illegible] neighborhood of $70,000,000.

THE CENTRAL PACIFIC ONLY A [illegible]

"A committee was sent out two or three [illegible] ago on the same matter and that made a [illegible] famous report, on the strength of which [illegible] Cleveland sent a message to congress [illegible] a settlement be made with the railroads. "In my opinion the [illegible] able to secure the government [illegible] ment of the entire debt and [illegible] anything in the future can be [illegible] Central very much less. The [illegible] Pacific is not worth enough to pay [illegible] gage bonds. It is absolutely [illegible] or branch roads. It is nothing [illegible]

"As chairman of the committee [illegible] which has charge of the rivers and harbors," continued Mr Frye, "I extend my [illegible] to the rivers and harbors [illegible] whenever opportunity offers. [illegible] Diego, San Pedro, Santa Monica and San Francisco and to-morrow I am going to [illegible] the jetties at the mouth of the Columbia [illegible] next day I will go to the Cascades [illegible] Your two senators Mr Dolph and Mr Mitchell are persistent, in season and out, in [illegible] appropriations."

"Do you think you can give [illegible] when you go back, senator?" was asked. "Can't say," he replied. "I have [illegible] your needs. I am satisfied that [illegible] persons observation whether [illegible] priations are just [illegible] testimony or arguments."

BUILDING THE AMERICAN MARINE.

"I have for twenty years since I have [illegible] congress, in fact been closely identified with [illegible] merchant marine of this country. I have [illegible] and am still doing the best in my power [illegible] some remedy for the existing depression. [illegible] have probably been [illegible] American vessels [illegible] port during the past year and [illegible] and that is about the protection [illegible] on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts [illegible] commerce is increasing from year to year [illegible] foreign ships carry 80 per cent. [illegible] own vessels carried 80 per cent. [illegible] ever, that within the next twenty years there [illegible] be a great revolution in this regard and I [illegible] believe that the Pacific ocean is to witness [illegible] derful revival of shipping interests.

The Pacific coast ought in time to be a [illegible] shipbuilding center. A splendid start has [illegible] made at San Francisco [illegible] Union Iron Works and do not believe [illegible] shipyard in the United States with better machinery or generally better equipped [illegible] "So, what with the railroad [illegible] bors shipyards and wonderful [illegible] mineral resources of the coast, my visit has [illegible] one of extraordinary interest to me."

THE PENSION BILL WILL BE PASSED.

Hon C K Davis, senator from Minnesota, chairman of the senate committee on [illegible] in connection with that matter said: "There is nothing of especial [illegible] matters except that there is no doubt [illegible] general pension bill will be passed during [illegible] winter. It is practically the same bill [illegible] the Forty-ninth congress and vetoed by President Cleveland. It was also passed by the [illegible] the Fiftieth congress but the house failed to [illegible] action on it."

"Do you anticipate much new business?" "No, there will be some special legislation [illegible] course, but the bulk of that will be done [illegible] with by the passage of the general pension [illegible]" "Have you anything to say about the appointment of Green B Raum as commissioner of pensions?" "None, but I consider it a most excellent appointment."

"Before you go, however," continued Senator Davis, "I wish to say that I was very glad to [illegible] hold of THE OREGONIAN. It enabled me to [illegible] some Eastern news and that with all due [illegible] to the great San Francisco dailies, I was not [illegible] to find while in California. I consider it a better general newspaper than the California papers."

THE NEW SENATORS.

Distribution Into Classes and Allotment of Their Terms.

Chicago Inter-Ocean.

There is one fact connected with the [illegible] from the new states to which little attention has been paid, yet it is a subject of great [illegible] the candidates for the United States senate [illegible] those states. It probably is not generally remembered, if it is known, that under existing circumstances it will not be possible for the legislatures of these states to determine the length of term of office of the senators whom they elect, and that neither of the two senators they may elect can tell what the length of term of office will be until he shall have [illegible] hand in the presence of the United States [illegible] to be sworn in. This element of hazard may [illegible] an additional interest to the contests which [illegible] proceeding in the new states for the seats in United States senate. The constitution of United States (under article 1, section 3, clause [illegible]) makes a provision as to the classification of senators which creates this doubt as to the term [illegible] office of the senators from the new states. In article it is provided that "immediately after (United States senators) shall be assembled in consequence of the first election they shall be divided as equally as may be into three classes. The seats of the senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year, [illegible] second class at the expiration of the fourth [illegible] and of the third class at the expiration of the sixth year, so that one-third may be chosen every second year." The classification of the [illegible] of the first congress was made in accordance with this provision by lot. What will be the fate of [illegible] luck of the senators from the new states [illegible] December? There can be no general classification by lot for it will be necessary for the [illegible] to distribute the new senators according [illegible] existing classification. In class one there [illegible] twenty-five senators whose terms will [illegible] March 4, 1893. In class two there are twenty-six senators whose terms will expire March 4, [illegible] In class three there are twenty-five [illegible] whose terms will expire March 4, 1891.

Ultimately the eight senators from the [illegible] states will be equally divided among these [illegible] classes, when each class will consist of [illegible] eight senators. When the eight new senators shall be added to the existing seventy-six [illegible] will be eighty-four members of the senate [illegible] will be equally distributed into the three constitutional classes. Now if the senators from [illegible] one of the new states shall appear here [illegible] sworn in on the first Monday in December [illegible] two senators will be distributed in the first [illegible] third classes.

The second class now having twenty-six members, and the first and third classes having [illegible] twenty-five members respectively, the [illegible] senators who present themselves, if they [illegible] alone, will be assigned the one to the third [illegible] the terms of which will expire in 1891 [illegible] to the third class, the terms of which will [illegible] in 1891. And so far as can be judged by the [illegible] experienced parliamentarians about the [illegible] ate, it will not be possible either for the [illegible] new state or for the senators chosen [illegible] determine which of the senators shall [illegible] the longest term. It would appear that the [illegible] will have to be determined by lot in the [illegible] here. If only one state shall present [illegible] tors at the beginning of congress, neither [illegible] the senators can have a term of six years [illegible] be necessary to assign them so that the [illegible] one and three shall each have twenty-six [illegible] bers and thus be equalized with the second [illegible] which already has twenty-six senators [illegible] these senators could therefore, only serve [illegible] March 4 1891, or only two years longer [illegible] of the other would be two years longer [illegible] March 4 1893. If, however the eight [illegible] from the new states should be presented [illegible] in December or January next the [illegible] would be different from what they have been [illegible] cept in the first congress. Then [illegible] course present at the beginning [illegible] their relative terms were determined by lot. At no time since the first [illegible] has more than one state been admitted [illegible] one time. It will not be practicable to [illegible] eight senators from the new states to draw [illegible] among themselves for it might happen [illegible] senators from the same state might draw [illegible] the same length which is contrary to the [illegible] the senate and in violation of the spirit [illegible] of the constitution [illegible] What action will be taken [illegible] [illegible]

MRS. FERRY'S DRAFT.

W. B. Marye, a Government Cruiser, Involved in Trouble.

FREIGHTLY DEPOT GROUNDS

Sergeant Edward Gordon Convicted in a Very Speedy Manner.

ESCAPE OF THE FUGITIVES

Burger Held to Answer—Railway Circular—Theatrical Ventures—Turkeys in Market—Our Terminal Facilities—Etc.

Policeman James Barry, who received through the mail a $100 draft which had been stolen from Mrs. C. P. Ferry or lost by her, is now sorry it was sent to him. A gentleman claiming to be Mrs Ferry's agent has been after him to get the draft, and would like to have the other notes and papers which Mrs. Ferry lost and which he seems to think Mr Barry also received. The most reasonable theory yet advanced about this matter is that Mrs. Ferry lost her pocketbook containing notes, drafts and some greenbacks, and some one found it who intends to keep the greenbacks and has sent the draft to Mr. Barry. If this chap will please drop a line to THE OREGONIAN and state what was in the pocketbook and what he has done with the rest of the papers if there were any, he will relieve the minds of the public and prevent Mr Barry being unjustly suspected of being in cahoots with him. As for the diamonds Mrs Ferry is reported to have lost, they probably only existed in the imagination of some excited individual. Of late years it has become a fashionable fake for prominent actresses to be robbed of diamonds of great value at short intervals. This is "done" for the purpose of giving the ladies notoriety, but there was no necessity for Mrs Ferry to work the fake here or anywhere as she has achieved world-wide notoriety enough to last a long time. If the person who found the pocketbook of Mrs Ferry will act on the suggestion above given, and give the whole snap away, he will confer a favor on a great many people.

W. B. MARYE IN TROUBLE

Held Under Arrest on Five Charges of Larceny—Timber Land That Didn't Materialize

Last Monday W. B. Marye, an East Portland [illegible] induced D. B. Shafer, John Alston, Jessie [illegible], F. W. Laube and fourteen others to go [illegible] with him to Astoria, where he promised [illegible] to locate them on desirable [illegible] timber lands. The men advanced Marye $10 and [illegible] on board the steamer paid him the remaining $25.

On arriving at Astoria Mary A. Leonard, a former partner of Marye, had the latter arrested on a charge of embezzling $300 which she intrusted to him for the purchase of school lands, which he neglected to do.

A few minutes after the arrest was made the defendant was discharged, as the Astoria justice had no jurisdiction in the case, the alleged crime having been committed outside of the limits of Clatsop county. After being released from custody the men who had paid him $35 apiece importuned him to show them the land but he refused point blank to do it, and came back to this city. Thoroughly disgusted, Marye's eighteen victims followed him, and the four men whose names are mentioned above swore out complaints against him in Justice Tuttle's court, charging him with larceny.

The case came up for examination yesterday afternoon, and lasted until late in the day. The facts developed were as recorded above. On his own behalf the defendant claimed that he intended to locate the men as promised, but that his arrest at Astoria prevented him doing so. It was, however, shown by witnesses that after being discharged Marye pointedly refused to proceed further and on the men asking for their money, he said that he had spent it.

Justice Tuttle took the case under advisement until this morning, when he will render a decision.

MRS. LEONARD CHARGED WITH PERJURY.

In the same court Mrs. Leonard was arrested on complaint of Marye on a charge of perjury. It was alleged that she swore falsely in causing the plaintiff's arrest at Astoria. On motion of Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Simon, the case was dismissed, as the crime, if any had been committed, was out of the jurisdiction of the court.

A VERY SPEEDY CONVICTION

The Jury Found Edward Gordon Guilty as Charged Within Two Minutes

Edward Gordon was placed on trial in the criminal court yesterday morning. The defendant is a powerfully built man, aged about 27 years. Gordon was under indictment for garroting and attempting to rob William Fern, a resident of Columbia City, Columbia county, but who was on a visit to Portland.

The prosecuting witness testified that on that day he first met the prisoner in a saloon, and the two took a drink, when the witness exhibited considerable money. After leaving the saloon Gordon followed him. While witness was examining some tools in front of a second hand store, the prisoner approached him, saying, "Come with me and I'll show you a man who'll sell you the tools very cheap." Fern unsuspectingly accompanied his newly made acquaintance, who took him under the narrow gauge [illegible] at the foot of Jefferson street, and there grabbing him by the throat quietly cried "Money! money!" Witness continued: "I freed myself and ran out, crying 'murder!' Several men were standing about, and I told them what had occurred, offering them a dollar if they would catch the man, who by that time was running away. (But the boys never got the dollar.)"

Daniel Anderson of 268 Front street, and Willie Jenkins, residing on Third and Harrison streets, testified to seeing Gordon run away. They followed him until he jumped into the river, near Smith's mill. Young Jenkins remained with the [illegible] until the officers arrested him.

There was other corroborative testimony briefly [illegible] and within an hour the case was given to the jury, who returned a verdict of guilty in two minutes.

Gordon waived time, but the court deferred sentencing him until to-day. He refused to testify in his own behalf perhaps dreading the fire of District Attorney McGinn's cross examination but he confessed to his counsel that he had served two years in the Joliet, Illinois, state prison for a similar crime.

BURGER HAD AN EXAMINATION

He Is Held to Answer the Charge of Perjury in the Sum of $1000

E. G. Burger, purser of the steamer Cyclone, had an examination before United States Commissioner Paul R. Deady yesterday on a charge of perjury. It was alleged that at the investigation before the United States local inspectors of the recent collision between the steamers Alarm and Cyclone he swore to statements which were of a very material character in determining the fault which caused the collision. The commissioner after listening to some extensive evidence and weighing the testimony as adduced at the inspectors' trial, concluded that he was warranted in holding Burger to await the action of the United States grand jury, and fixed his bonds at the sum of $1000.

THE FIVE ESCAPED JAIL BIRDS.

They Still Roam the Country—No Jailer Appointed—Assistance Offered.

Nothing has been heard of the escaped jail birds since two of them were captured and then let go at Forest Grove, Wednesday. The appended letter, describing the capture and escape of the men, was received by THE OREGONIAN from Forest Grove yesterday:

Mark H. Stevens, one of the five prisoners who escaped from the Multnomah county jail early last Sunday morning, was arrested here at 9 o'clock last night by J. W. H. Adkins, our marshal, through information derived from F. L. Geiger of this place, who has personally known Stevens for [illegible] years.

Owing to carelessness and mismanagement on the part of the officers the prisoner escaped. He arrived here about 2 o'clock yesterday. A portion of the time he amused himself playing pool. At 6 o'clock he ate supper at the Western hotel, after which he had a confidential conversation with F. L. Geiger, and he (Geiger) says admitted the fact that he and others did rob certain saloons, told him the way in which they escaped from the jail and as to his whereabouts since which time [illegible] Geiger says he told him also that he was now on his way to San Francisco via Yaquina. It was a dark and stormy night last night and he certainly did not travel but a short distance from here, perhaps intending to board either the south bound freight or passenger train.

Geiger noticed a man talking with Stevens here yesterday who he says answers the description of the person who stole Dr. Gross's horse and buggy some time since.

C. L. L.

Sheriff Kelly received a letter from Sheriff P. M. [illegible], of Washington county, in which the latter expressed himself as being very sorry that City Marshal Adkins let the men escape, and promising to do all he can to recapture the men, with no hope of getting a reward or other remuneration for his services.

Sheriff Kelly has men out all over the country looking for the jail breakers and some if not all of them will most likely be captured.

The position of jailer of Multnomah county, made vacant by the resignation of Mr. Howe, has not yet been permanently filled. Mr Kelly is going to take his time in making a selection, as he wants to get a man fully competent and trustworthy. Meanwhile Deputy Sheriff Paul [illegible] Sprague will continue to handle the keys.

JURISDICTION EXTENDED

A Railway Circular Issued—Division and Assistant Surgeons Appointed, Etc

A circular has been issued by W. H. Holcomb, vice-president of the Union Pacific, which provides that after November 1 the jurisdiction of Dr. W. F. Pfeiffer as chief surgeon, and [illegible] Kelly's superintendent of telegraph for the company, will be extended over all divisions of the Union Pacific system and over the St. Joseph & Grand Island railroad.

A circular has also been issued by Chief Surgeon Pfeiffer, appointing Dr. A. D. Bevan, of this city, division surgeon of the Union Pacific Railway Company, with jurisdiction over the lines of the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company, to take effect November 1, 1889.

The following assistant surgeons have been appointed, who will report to the division surgeon in Portland: Dr George D. Shaver at Tacoma; Dr Hugh Logan at the Dalles; Dr W. Vincent at Pendleton; Dr Charles Hines at La Grande; Dr T. S. Snow at Baker City; Dr J. J. Bingham at Walla Walla; Dr C. M. Boswell at Colfax; Dr J. H. Van Patten at Dayton; Dr C. S. Penfield at Spokane Falls.

The employes of the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company's lines can receive the benefits of the hospital fund by applying to the above named company surgeons with the identification blank form 29 properly filled out. Cases of mild sickness or of minor injury desiring to go to the hospital will be sent to St Vincent's hospital in Portland. Cases of severe illness and of severe injury desiring or requiring hospital care will be sent to the hospitals as follows: Cases of this kind occurring west of Umatilla Junction to St Vincent's in Portland; east of Umatilla Junction and so [illegible] of Riparia to the Sisters' Hospital at Walla Walla; north of Riparia, to the Sisters' hospital at Spokane Falls.

Copies of the rules and regulations of the medical department of the Union Pacific railway and form 29 may be obtained of Dr A. D. Bevan, division surgeon, or of Mr C. J. Smith, general manager of the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company.

FESTIVE TURKEYS ARE COMING IN

These Birds Are Abundant for This Season of the Year.

Large numbers of fine young turkeys are coming into market lately. They sell for about fifteen cents per pound live weight and will weigh eight to ten pounds when picked. It is unusually early for turkeys to be coming in but there is a large stock of them this year and there will be plenty for Thanksgiving and Christmas. There have been great numbers of chickens received here during the past month. A fellow bought up a whole carload and took them over to his ranch near Tacoma for supplying that town, and a man in this city bought several hundreds and turned them out to graze on Ross island. The introduction of cold storage here has made a great change in marketing chickens and all kinds of perishable articles. Whenever anything of the kind gets low some one buys up a lot and puts it in cold storage and is ready for a rise. It will hardly be possible for any one to put up a corner in such things any more.

THEY THINK IT IS VERY DIRTY.

That Is the Opinion of Many Visitors Regarding Our Terminal Facilities.

Two enterprising citizens of Portland who have been East for a month, arrived home the other evening and on alighting from the train stepped over shoe in a mud hole. They now have a realizing sense of the miserable terminal facilities of Portland. They say that in every town of any size, not to mention cities like Portland, which they visited during their trip they found handsome and commodious depots and good hotels. They wonder what idea people from the East or for that matter, from anywhere must have of our city when they land in that slough of despond which does duty for a depot here.

As to that, it may be said that the senatorial party now visiting the city thought Portland was beautifully situated, and all that sort of thing, "but oh! what a dirty place." Now our streets are about as well kept as the average and will compare favorably with those of any city on the coast, but the special train of the senators was side-tracked on the platform near the old leaning shed which has done duty as a temporary depot for the West Side road for the past fifteen years or more, and there is no way of escaping from that platform except by wading through a loblolly of mud which would disgrace one of the main streets of even Tacoma. So they are not to be blamed for thinking this is a very dirty town, and although they may not say so they must certainly think there is a great lack of public spirit here and very little care for the comfort or convenience of people coming to this city.

THEATRICAL ATTRACTIONS.

McKee Rankin's Work in "The Danites"—Cordray's Musee Theater—Gilmore Concert

Without question there is no man on the American stage to-day who can so completely delineate the romantic side of border character as can McKee Rankin. His splendid physique, his sonorous voice, his natural ease and grace all fit him most admirably for this class of work. One of his best delineations in this line is the character of Sandy McGee, in "The New Danite," which was presented for the first time during his present engagement at the New Park theater last evening. A finer piece of artistic impersonation could not be imagined. Throughout the whole play, from the moment when the curtain rises upon the camp in the rugged Sierras, through his tender and sympathetic scene with the ill-fated Nancy Williams, the humorous yet touching scene with Hulda at her cabin, his scene in his home with his wife, as well as the remaining scenes of the play, he was the rugged, brave, tender-hearted, noble-minded man. There is no Sandy McGee but Rankin.

Sharing with the star the honors of the play, Miss Mabel Bert as Nancy Williams and Billy Piper is worthy of commendation. She gives to the part all the melancholy shading which makes it so pathetic and carries the sympathies of the audience for her unhappy fate. Miss Lorena Atwood made a good Hulda Brown.

W. C. Crosbie as The Judge was very amusing, with his constant allusion to the glorious climate of California. The remainder of the cast was fair only.

"The New Danites" again to-night.

CORDRAY'S MUSEE THEATER.

"The Two Orphans" continues to draw full houses to this popular place of amusement and the Musee attractions all keep up the interest.

THE BURGLAR.

The remarkable New York and San Francisco success "The Burglar" will be produced at the New Park theater next Monday evening, by Joseph Grismer, Phoebe Davies and their own company. Speaking of this play the San Francisco [illegible] of [illegible] says:

The Burglar is the most successful piece of dramatic expansion that a [illegible] could wish to see.

That exquisite little sketch Editha's Burglar has not been pulled to pieces or padded or diluted or otherwise maltreated in its conversion into a four act play.

The joining has been very cleverly done and the play is as smooth a piece of work as if the third act had been the third act from the beginning and had never stood alone. One is interested in it from the very beginning, not only because it is skillfully enacted to tell an interesting story in the most effective way, but because it is so well written that it is a pleasure to listen to the lines.

Joseph Grismer and Phoebe Davies have made a distinct advance in selecting this kind of play in preference to the melodramas they used to represent and they have engaged a company which is peculiarly adapted to the play. Mr Grismer played the title role far more flexibly than he could have played it a few years ago, and there was no touch of hardness or insincerity in his scene with the little girl. He did not overdo the pathetic side of it and he acted the rest with rare discretion.

Phoebe Davies was her usual satisfactory self as Editha's mother, charming when the play permitted her to smile and irresistible to the tearful when she seemed to suffer—which, indeed, is a kind of chronic condition with Alice in the play.

THE GILMORE CONCERTS.

The sale of seats, both single and for the season, is progressing with such great success as to insure very large audiences for the three concerts to be given next Monday and Tuesday. The rehearsals of the special chorus for the occasion have developed a large and increasing interest and their enthusiasm promises well for their part of the entertainment.

The following sketch of Mr Gilmore, the organizer and leader of this superb band, may not prove uninteresting: Patrick Sarsfield Gilmore, the most renowned and best known band leader in the United States, was born near Dublin, Ireland, December 25, 1829. At the age of fifteen years he connected himself with military bands and at once showed a remarkable talent and aptitude. So well was the youngster thought of that he was taken to Canada along with an English military band. After that engagement was at an end he went to Salem, Mass., and became a leader there. He soon found, however, that his talents demanded a wider field, and he went to Boston, where he organized Gilmore's Band, and made such a success therewith that he was enabled to make an extensive and successful tour of the various cities of the country. In 1861 he accompanied the Twenty-fourth Massachusetts Regiment to the field, and in 1863 was placed in charge of all the bands in Louisiana by General Banks. He originated monster concerts in this country, and was the projector of the great "Boston Jubilees" held in 1869-72. These were the most gigantic musical affairs ever had upon earth. Seven years after he made a European tour with his band and created quite a furor in all the large cities there. He is now bandmaster of the Twenty-second regiment, National Guards of New York state, and furnishes the world-famous band for every summer season for the Manhattan Beach, on Coney Island, and every fall season for the St. Louis exposition. Bandmaster Gilmore has composed and arranged many marches and songs, the most renowned being his American National Hymn, and "Ireland to England," both of which were first given to the public by the New York Herald.

SITKA, ALASKA.

In all this large and valuable outlying territory of the United States there is not a single fortified place to represent the authority of the nation. It is important that Sitka or some other suitable selected place should be provided with land defenses as a military and naval depot which could be held until the full power of the government could be brought to the distant scene of [illegible] operations. The land defenses would require barbette batteries, mortar batteries, torpedoes and the assistance of the navy. The cost of [illegible] is [illegible] estimated as follows:

Four [illegible]-inch B. L. rifles and carriages	$1 [illegible]
Four [illegible]-inch B. L. rifles and carriages	[illegible]

THE DEFENSE OF THE COAST.

The defense of the important points on the Pacific coast will require rifled guns and mortars of the largest calibers. It will be difficult and expensive to transport such compact heavy masses across the continent even if the railway bridges will sustain the weight. It is therefore to the interest of the government that [illegible] needed for the defense of this coast should be manufactured on it. [illegible] It becomes [illegible] be offered to develop the private industries [illegible] The [illegible] manufacture of [illegible] coast will [illegible] the [illegible] for making [illegible] guns of all calibers wherever the [illegible] [illegible] remunerative [illegible] the government [illegible] the supply of the gun steel needed for making guns for the defense of this coast, the price and quality [illegible] the same. This has been [illegible] in case of [illegible] other supplies for use on the Pacific coast, and by making a permanent appropriation for the purchase of the gun-steel needed to run over a term of years [illegible] by the location on this coast of a gun factory [illegible] and assembling the guns.

It has been estimated on the basis of the [illegible] in England that the [illegible] necessary [illegible] tempered steel parts for guns up to sixteen inches caliber costs about $[illegible] The estimated cost of [illegible] for gun factory is $[illegible] The necessity for a government gun [illegible] on this coast is apparent in the [illegible] not considering the advantages to the nation [illegible] developing its capabilities of defense [illegible] sites [illegible] at [illegible] with the [illegible] facilities of water transportation and good [illegible] One [illegible] on the coast, [illegible] the [illegible]

SUITABLE [illegible] SITES.

The [illegible] from the report of a board of officers appointed October 14 1881 to examine the sites [illegible] by the government for military reserves and [illegible] for [illegible] purposes [illegible] those in the vicinity of Fort Townsend [illegible] Port [illegible] As to the reservations at Deception Pass and Islands A, B and [illegible] the board found them to belong to the United States. The result of the examination shows that the government has no title to any portion of the [illegible] lands at Point Wilson or at Admiralty Head. The lands used for the light house purposes were purchased [illegible] Although the board found that the government has no title remaining to any of the [illegible] included in the [illegible] reservations at Wilson [illegible] and Admiralty Head. These places [illegible] for [illegible] Marrowstone Point, presented from [illegible] the only suitable points for [illegible] the [illegible] control of the navigation of the waters of Admiralty inlet by land batteries.

As to the relative importance of Wilson Point, Marrowstone Point and Admiralty Head [illegible] guns to command the [illegible] reports say: "The fortification of any one of these points alone could not give control over the navigation of the inlet, that these points are of equal importance and entirely dependent on each other for any value."

So far as Deception pass is concerned, the board does not recommend any fortification there at present. [illegible] in their opinion in the event of hostilities [illegible]

For the building of batteries, covered ways, service magazines, laying platforms, buildings for officers and men, [illegible] the board [illegible] $[illegible] for each place.

[illegible] the [illegible] of this [illegible] General Miles says in his report which he also incorporates with his annual report:

The British government [illegible] expending a very large amount of money [illegible] at Esquimalt [illegible] a [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] for the [illegible] ship [illegible] to a small fleet in those waters. [illegible] that our government should take [illegible] interest in the establishment of naval [illegible] this part of the United States.

Inasmuch as congress has made no appropriation for fortifications [illegible] necessary to [illegible] upon that subject [illegible] the [illegible] is [illegible] [illegible] that has come to my [illegible] and to which I will accordingly refer [illegible] present interest. While nearly all the [illegible] mentioned sites are located on the maps as government reservations [illegible] impression that many of them have already been taken up by private parties. If such be the case the government can only acquire title by condemnation or by purchase at what will no doubt prove a very high price in the near future. Owing to its location Port Townsend, except in so far as it [illegible] represent the authority of the United States, will serve no important military purpose in time of war and if possible should be moved to some other location, preferably Point Wilson or Marrowstone. The rapid growth of Port Townsend has already brought it so near Point Wilson as to expose it somewhat to the guns of the hostile ships of war should Point Wilson be brought under their fire and if the Point is to be reserved for defensive purposes, the risk of extending the town in that direction should either be avoided or pointed out to its authorities.

NEWS FROM ASTORIA

From the Astorian and the Pioneer

As Astoria wants the next convention of the state teachers' association.

It is probable that an ordinance prohibiting band playing on the streets will be passed. [illegible] council has paid for a certified copy of the last Portland ordinance.

Secretary Holden, of the chamber of commerce, sent a letter to the council Tuesday evening, advising it to appoint an officer to enforce the state law for the prevention of abuses to seamen.

THE NEGRO QUESTION.

A Paper Read Upon the Subject Before the American Missionary Association

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—The negro question was the principal [illegible] before the meeting of the American Missionary Association to-day. Several papers were read, the most interesting of which was read by Colonel J. W. Keating, of Memphis. Colonel Keating said that disfranchisement was impossible and that suffrage was necessary to the protection of the negro. Deportation he said was utterly impossible for if the [illegible] people departed it would be greatly against the interests of the South. The thing to be done was to let the negro alone and give him his rights of education and civilization. A vote of thanks was tendered Colonel Keating by the association and the committee on printing were instructed to have the paper distributed through the South.

The report of the finance committee showed [illegible] conditions existing. The recommendation of the committee that $[illegible] be contributed for the coming year, principally for the purpose of enlarging the work among the negroes and poor whites of the South was adopted. The meeting closed to-night with the election of officers.

TAKING THE WHITE VEIL.

Miss Drexel, the Heiress, Will Soon Be a "Sister of Mercy."

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 31.—Miss Kate Drexel, heiress and daughter of the late F. H. Drexel, millionaire of Philadelphia, will be received as a novice of the order of the Sisters of Mercy on November [illegible]. Aside from the clergy only relatives and near friends of Miss Drexel will be present at the ceremony, which is to take place in Mercy Convent [illegible] this [illegible] Miss Drexel will take the white veil. It was early last May that she entered Mercy convent and turned the fashionable world in a flutter by her act. Since then she has been one of the [illegible] postulants and most [illegible] of all rules. Her determination to take the white veil sets at rest all doubts as to her future, although she will have to remain three years before being finally received into the order. If meanwhile she changes her mind no objections will be made to her leaving the convent. Upon the occasion of the ceremony Miss Drexel will wear a magnificent bridal robe now being made in Philadelphia. After the veil is taken she will don the plain habit of the order.

REVOLUTION IN GUATEMALA.

Reported to Be in Full Progress in the Santa Rosa District—Prisoners Shot

CITY OF MEXICO (via Galveston), Oct. 31.—[illegible] publishes a telegram from Guatemala saying that revolution is in full progress in the Santa Rosa district. The revolutionists are holding their own, aided by others [illegible] the Mexican frontier.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—General Barrillas, president of Guatemala, sent a telegram to Jacob Baiz, Guatemalan consul general in this city, saying the reports of the revolution there are false.

BURIED IN THE RUINS.

A House Falls in on Sixteen Workmen—Three Fatally Injured

[illegible] N. J., Oct. 31.—The walls of a three story double house in the course of erection fell to-day in Passaic City, and sixteen workmen were buried in the ruins. Three were fatally injured and three seriously, and others slightly injured. Nothing but broken timbers, bricks and mortar marks the spot where the house stood. The owners of the building are severely condemned as it was a "Buddensiek" affair.

A BANK CASHIER DEFAULTS

His Large Shortage Causes the Institution to Fail.

CONSHOHOCKEN, Pa., Oct. 31.—The bank examiner has taken charge of the Tradesman's bank. The cashier is missing and is said to be short $50,000 in his accounts. The capital of this bank is $100,000. A notice was posted on the door, saying that depositors will lose nothing. The amount of the defalcation may reach $75,000.

The cashier's name is W. H. Cresson. He stood high in social and church circles.

SKIN CANCER.

Several years ago I was called to see a colored woman who had a malignant form of cancer on her foot. The cancer grew worse under the prescribed treatment and the toes and one side of the foot were at length eaten entirely away. The patient could not have survived much longer but I commenced the use of Swift's Specific, and it cured her sound well. That was three years ago and there has been no return of the disease. I regard Swift's Specific a most excellent medicine for blood diseases, as its tendency is to drive out the poison.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS

A NEW TREATMENT.

Sufferers are not generally aware that these diseases are contagious, or that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the lining membrane of the nose and eustachian tubes. Microscopic research, however, has proved this to be a fact, and the result of this discovery is that a simple remedy has been discovered which permanently cures the most aggravated cases of these distressing diseases by a few simple applications made (two weeks apart) by the patient at home. A pamphlet explaining this new treatment is sent free by A. H. DIXON & SON, 337 and 339 West King Street, Toronto, Canada.

DRUNKENNESS

Or the Liquor Habit, Positively Cured by administering Dr. Haines' Golden Specific.

It can be given in a cup of coffee or tea or in articles of food without the knowledge of the patient. It is absolutely harmless, and will effect a permanent and speedy cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. IT NEVER FAILS. Over 100,000 drunkards have been made temperate men who have taken Golden Specific in their coffee without their knowledge and to-day believe they quit drinking of their own free will. 48 page book of particulars free. IDEAL BROILING.

Broiling can be done in the oven of the Charter Oak Range or Stove with the Wire Gauze Oven Door, more perfectly than over the live coals.

Lay the steak, chops, ham or fish on a wire broiler or meat rack, placing it in an ordinary bake pan to catch the drippings. Allow it to remain in the oven with the door closed 15 or 20 minutes. No turning is required. At the end of this time it will be found nicely cooked ready to [illegible]. THIS IS THE IDEAL WAY TO BROIL MEAT.

There is no taint of coal gas or smoke and the meats are more tender and better flavor than those broiled over the coals. The convenience of broiling in the oven will be appreciated by every housekeeper and adds another to the many reasons why the Charter Oak Range or Stove with the Wire Gauze Oven Door should be preferred to all others now in the market.

Two Weeks' Work

One sale of $150 000 was made to a syndicate of a few Portland gentlemen and additional sales to different parties and to other syndicates equals $100 000—all of it Port Townsend property and all made in the past two weeks This statement is not a real estate advertisement, but an actual fact and the demand for this property has just commenced Property that was held at $250 per acre two weeks ago sells more rapidly now at $350 than it sold for at the first price This Port Townsend property is now sought after and buyers are seeking it now, instead of the property seeking the buyers. With railroad work commenced and the population there increasing very rapidly it is expected that all this property sold will double in value in the next ninety days It is a lucky man that is the possessor of Port Townsend acres in the next twelve months Some parties will make fortunes in the simple rise of property there.

DEAD TO HER FOREVER.

How Clara Huntington's Mother Views Her Marriage to the Prince

Her Father Was a Groceryman—She Became Hysterical Upon Learning of Her Poor but Respectable Parentage

A dispatch from Sacramento Thursday morning stated that Mrs. Prentice the mother of Princess Hatzfeldt the adopted daughter of C P Huntington, had declared that her daughter having disgraced herself she would never recognize her again. The story of the childhood of this young woman, who has come into such prominence by her marriage with Europe's most notorious roue is told by the San Francisco Examiner

Twenty seven years ago Clara Huntington was born in Sacramento Edward Prentice an obscure groceryman of the capital city was her father They had another child, a son Edward H Prentice who is now a clerk in the railroad building at Fourth and Townsend streets. Collis P Huntington married a sister of Mrs Prentice and still another sister is the wife of John T Haviland who is connected with the liquor house of Wilmerding & Co, and who lives in a richly furnished residence at 1909 Van Ness avenue.

In the great flood of 1862 that left death and devastation in the valley of the Sacramento the father of Clara Huntington was drowned He left nothing but poverty as a legacy to his widow and orphans Huntington had no children to brighten his mansion with their presence, so his wife offered to adopt and care for her sister's baby girl who was not born until after her father's death The poor widow fought bravely to provide for her children but the fates were against her and she was worsted in the struggle

Huntington got the baby He was not then the great railroad magnate whose name is known in the four quarters of the globe to day But there came a change The golden spike was driven in the last rail of the Central Pacific railroad and Huntington was a power in the financial world almost before he knew it

During the years that followed her adoption by the Huntingtons Clara was not enlightened as to her real parentage until a gentleman calling at her adopted father's residence unintentionally allowed a few remarks to pass his lips that opened up to her the truth She called upon Huntington for an explanation and he related to her the facts in the case

The blow was such a shock to her that she was prostrated by a severe illness For a long time after that incident Miss Huntington was despondent and refused to be comforted The knowledge that she did not have an undeniable right to the name she bore preyed upon her mind. She was at that time about 14 years old

The old order of things was not changed however So Mr Huntington and his wife were as they always had been papa and mamma. Her mother and brother were "auntie" and "cousin" Her depressed spirits continued and Huntington thought a change of residence would efface from Clara's mind the phantom that haunted it, besides placing her where daily association with the mother and brother whom she longed to forget would cease to remind her of the fact that she was not his child He took her East with him and kept her there until her education was completed and she entered society

Mrs Prentice was in the meantime established in a house which Huntington had provided for her on M street in Sacramento When Miss Huntington met her mother on the occasion of her first visit to California after her long absence there was nothing but the iciest formality visible on the part of the young woman The glamour of wealth and society had done its work the child was estranged from the mother who bore her into the world Clara avoided meeting her mother on every possible occasion, and her brother suffered likewise.

So it has been through all the intervening years. Clara has visited her native state often, but to her mother she has been little better than a stranger Mrs. Prentice has never known Clara's lips to frame that hallowed word—mother When by accident they chanced to meet a few times the heiress has maintained a cold, austere demeanor and has never ventured beyond extending the tips of her fingers for her mother to grasp There have never been any of those affectionate intimacies between them that mark the lives of other mothers and their daughters.

Mrs H Mehrtens, mother-in law of Clara's brother, says the Huntingtons have never legally adopted Clara. The brother refused to affirm or deny this statement and said it was a matter they did not talk about.
